Accuses Beck of Using Influence In Helping Son

Gets Large Beer Distributor Business in Northwest, Alaska

WASHINGTON (UP) — A brewery official said today that Dave Beck used his power as a Teamsters Union leader to get a mammoth Budweiser beer distributorship.

The official, General Counsel Dwight D. Ingamells of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., of St. Louis, testified before the Senate Rackets Committee which is investigating Beck's financial activities.

The distributorship was described as the largest in area covered—much of the Northwest and Alaska. Beck was said to have arranged for his son to be put in charge of it.

The committee produced documents in which officials of the brewery pictured husky Dave Beck Jr. as "an overgrown spoiled boy" whose indulgent father demanded that he get $1,000 a month plus a nickel a case on all Budweiser sold in Alaska.

Ingamells told the committee that Beck's power in the Teamsters Union "certainly had something to do" with the fact that Beck Jr. got distribution rights for Budweiser in the northwest area and Alaska.

Slipped to Canada

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told newsmen meanwhile that the Junior Beck and two other missing witnesses had slipped into Canada "strictly" to duck questioning by investigators who have been hunting them for weeks.

Kennedy said "there is nothing we can do to bring them back." He said he did not believe they would return to the United States.

The U S marshal's office in Seattle, Wash., said Wednesday night the three elusive witnesses including Dave Beck Jr. jumped across the border to Vancouver, B.C.

Beck Sr., head of the powerful Teamster Union, faced further questioning today before the Rackets Committee on how he made Beck Jr. head of a beer distributing firm.

Also summoned to testify at the hearing were officials of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., a St. Louis, Mo. brewery, to explain why lucrative franchises for Budweiser beer went to the firm Beck backed. Their names were not immediately disclosed.

The committee also summoned Donol Hedlund, president of Na-

Seven Persons Killed as Result Of Cars Racing

POMEROY, Ohio (UP)— Seven persons were dead today as the result of a highway race between two cars which ended in a head-on collision Wednesday night.

Nancy McCoy, Cheshire, one of two persons critically injured with a skull fracture in the crash died early today. The state Highway Patrol reported six others were killed in the accident or died enroute to a hospital.

"I have been advising them that I made a promise months ago to Judge Bauer and to Sculco that I would support them for the two judgeships, and of course, I am keeping that promise."

Ezio Pinza, Operatic Star, Dies at Age 65

STAMFORD, Conn. (UP) — Operatic basso Ezio Pinza, who scored his greatest success after he left the staid Metropolitan Opera House for Broadway musicals, died at his home here today.

Pinza, 65, had suffered three strokes since last August but his death came unexpectedly. Just one week ago the matinee idol's wife said he "was resting comfortably."

Pinza was a star for the Metropolitan for 20 years when he suddenly signed to play the lead in the Broadway musical "South Pacific" opposite Mary Martin. His last musical on Broadway was "Fanny."

He became a "new star" overnight — the idol of bobby-soxers, housewives, grandmothers and men of all ages.

Pinza was a silver-haired grandfather at the time of his Broadway success and upset the stereotyped concept of "the lover." He later went on to score another romantic success in the movie "Mr. Imperium," opposite Lana Turner.

Born the son of a carpenter in Rome, Italy on May 1, 1892, Pinza made his singing debut with a provincial opera company at Soncino and was an immediate success.

Pinza met his present wife, the former Doris Leak, in 1938 when she was a dancer with the Metropolitan.

In 1940 Miss Leak and Pinza were married. It was the second marriage for the operatic star. Three children were born of this union. Pinza also had a daughter by his first marriage and became a grandfather in 1949 when she had a son.

Pinza suffered his first stroke while on vacation at a villa at Cervia, Italy last August. It ended his career

Upon his return to the United States he learned he never would be able to sing again. In December he suffered his second attack.

Pinza was placed in an oxygen tent at his home after his third attack last month and later was reported slightly improved.

Fires Threaten Part Of Historic Plymouth

BOSTON (UP) — Fearful residents fled their homes in a section of historic Plymouth today in the face of a rampaging forest fire. The blaze was one of scores which have seared thousands of acres of dry New England woodlands.

Men women and children left at least 16 homes in Manomet Four Corners, a village of Plymouth where the Pilgrims first touched American soil.

The racing flames were fought by 5,000 men, including prison inmates, who were thrown into the battle to save lives and property.

The fire started in thickly-treed Myles Standish reservation on the outskirts of Plymouth. It raced unchecked toward the sea.

The state was the worst hit in a rash of forest and brush fires which continued to sweep across New England. More than 80 blazes were reported, 14 of which assumed major proportions.

Other brush and forest fires were reported in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, and Rhode Island.

In Massachusetts, the worst forest fire outbreak in ten years prompted Gov. Foster Furcolo to declare a state of emergency Wednesday night as two major forest fires raged out of control. Some fires were believed to be the work of arsonists.

State Commissioner of Natural Resources Francis W. Sargent said, "The situation will probably get worse before it gets better. We expect all hell to break loose.

Carroll Twp. Annexation to Donora Sought

Carroll Twp. property owners living in areas immediately adjoining Donora have submitted petitions requesting to have the areas annexed to the Borough of Donora.

The property which would be affected by the proposed annexation covers 215 acres, and includes sections known as Highland and Crestview Plans, Allen Plan, Donora Place, Gilmore Terrace and Orchard Plan.

Donora Council Tuesday accepted the petitions and authorized Borough Solicitor A. J. DeMedio to investigate all petitions thoroughly to be sure they are in proper legal order before council takes further action.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will also be given an opportunity to draw up a chart showing boundaries before and after the proposed annexation preparatory to any further action.

An adjourned meeting of council was then set for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the borough building at which time the reports of the solicitor and Planning and Zoning Commission will be presented.

If all petitions are in order and all legal requirements of annexation are met, council is expected to draw up an ordinance for annexation following tomorrow's meeting.

Youth's Injuries Prove Fatal

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Posdell Smith, 17, of 1132 Cherry St., Braddock, Pa., died in Montefiore Hospital Wednesday of a head injury suffered when his father struck him with a baseball bat.

The father, William, 54, who told police he hit his son Tuesday night in self defense, was slated for a coroner's hearing.

Braddock Police Chief Edward Goldstein said the father had called police to the Smith home before the fatal beating.

"There was no trace of the boy, who had been beating his father and sister, so we left," Goldstein said. He said witnesses reported Posdell later returned home and "acted violently again."

Ike Makes Strong Appeal For Foreign Aid Program

Talks to Leaders in Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower made a strong appeal to Republican and Democratic congressional leaders today for passage of a foreign aid program of at least $3,880,000,000 for fiscal 1958.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said after a White House conference of more than 90 minutes that Eisenhower probably will submit his detailed program to Congress early next week.

The President originally asked $4,400,000,000 for the mutual security program. Today, he scaled it down to $2,800,000,000 for military assistance and $1,080,000,000 for economic aid.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said he understood from the President's presentation today that the reduction of slightly more than 500 million dollars will be a real saving, not just deferred spending.

In view of the apparent difference of opinion between Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey over government spending, Johnson said, it will be up to Congress to decide what the final foreign aid figure will be.

Prior to the legislative meeting the President received a report from Ambassador James P. Richards on his 59-day Eisenhower Doctrine tour of the Mideast. Both Richards and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who joined in the preliminary meeting, took part in the bipartisan congressional conference.

More Trouble Spots

The Eisenhower budget was in trouble on other fronts:

—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield threatened to cut mail service again if Congress doesn't vote him a lot more money. He said Wednesday he will need an extra 70 to 90 million dollars in the next fiscal year if mail volume continues at its present heavy rate. A Senate appropriations subcommittee voted him 38 milion dollars of a 58-million House cut in his previous request for next year but declined to do anything now about the added 70-90 million now.

—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), Senate Republican whip, said the U.S. Information Agency has "not been too successful" thus far in its bid for Senate restoration of 30 million dollars of a 38-

Dag in Jerusalem For Talks

By UNITED PRESS

United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrived today in Jerusalem for secret talks with Premier David Ben-Gurion in hope of preventing another Israeli-Egyptian war.

Israeli military sources said Egypt already was preparing "fresh adventures" against Israel and was trying to persuade Saudi Arabia to act against Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Security precautions for Hammarskjold were unprecedented when he arrived at Lydda Airport. The field had been blocked off for hours by police and only government leaders were allowed to get near him.

Hammarskjod's arrival coincided with plans in Jerusalem for the United States and Israel to issue a joint communique expressing Israel's support of the Eisenhower Doctrine and ending its attempts at neutrality in the cold war.

James P. Richards, the U.S. special envoy who explained the Eisenhower Doctrine to a series of Middle East nations reported to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Washington today on his efforts to "sell" the doctrine.

Fleet Pulled Out

U.S. Navy headquarters in London reported that ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet are headed back to precrisis anchorages in the central Mediterranean now that Jordan is quiet.

But Egypt continued its propaganda barrage against Jordan and Lebanon, and a Cairo dispatch said the move was increasing the risk that both countries would abandon the Cairo camp altogether. Observers in Cairo said Egypt apparently hoped the nationalists in the two countries would force the governments back into the pro-Egyptian camp.

Hammarskjold was accompanied today by Dr. Ralph Bunche, assistant secretary general who was instrumental in arranging the armistice agreements between Israel and its Arab foes in the 1948 Palestine war.

He faced these charges by Israeli military officials:

1. Egypt is concentrating troops near the strait of Tiran, guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, in preparation to taking over the fortress of Sharm El Sheikh from the U.N. emergency force.
2. Egypt is repairing an airfield near the Gulf of Suez and has men in training there. Planes from the airfield could strike at Israeli shipping.
3. Two full battalions of former Palestinian troops have entered the Gaza Strip disguised as "returning citizens."

Admits Forging Money Order

A West Newton woman, Evelyn G. Porter, 25, yesterday admitted she forged a $1,000 money order and was given a six months suspended jail sentence.

Miss Porter escaped paying a $1,000 fine by promising Federal Judge Joseph Willson in Pittsburgh she would repay the money.

The young woman said she forged the money order last May while working as a telegraph operator in a Western Union office at Mountain View, Calif.

She told the court she cashed the order in San Francisco and spent the money on living expenses.

Forest Fire Threat 'Critical' in District

LIGONIER, Pa. (UP) — A state forest inspector said today the threat of forest fires is "very critical" in western Pennsylvania where large areas have had no rain in nearly two weeks.

Prompt action by firefighters put down a half dozen blazes in Somerset and Fayette counties during the past 48 hours.

"So far we've been able to bat them down in a hurry," Forest Inspector John Johnston said at his office here. "When it's this dry you don't know just what will happen.

The State Department of Forests and Waters said the situation "is very critical...we'll need luck now."

Fires have damaged more than 330 acres of woodland and brush since Tuesday in tinder-dry central Somerset county which has gone without rain for 13 days.

In Fayette, fire crews battled three blazes over 125 acres in the Piper Hollow area between Uniontown and Dunbar Tuesday and Wednesday.

At Uniontown fire warden W E. Dutton said he is investigating the possibility of arson in the three fires.

Other small fires have been reported throughout the western Pennsylvania mountain areas.

Johnston said the woods are so dry they are "burning like it was August."

Rostraver and Other Educators At Conference

Rostraver Township educators and other Westmoreland County schoolmen and students are in Harrisburg today attending the two-day conference of the Pennsylvania Federation of Junior Historians.

Election of state officers of the junior and senior divisions of the organization will take place tomorrow.

The annual affair will close with a conference luncheon at the Penn Harris Hotel.

Officers of the district chapter of the state federation, Westmoreland County Chapter, are: Dr. James Hughes, superintendent of County schools, chairman; Larry Carter of Rostraver Twp., senior president; Larry Lynn of Rostraver Twp., senior vice-chairman; Roy Lutz of Penn Joint High School, senior vice president, and Marianne Fletcher, of Derry, senior secretary.

Donahue Promises to Be Working Prosecutor

Wayne Donahue, New Kensington attorney who has no opposition for the Republican nomination for district attorney of Westmoreland County, said last night he intends, if elected, to be a working prosecutor.

He made the promise in a talk before the Progressive Political Council of Republican Women in Greensburg.

Donahue strongly inferred that the present district attorney, L. Alexander Sculco, who is now a judgeship candidate, has too many assistants and ought to be doing more work himself

The GOP candidate pointed out that Sculco has six assistant district attorneys, two clerks and six county detectives. But Sculco himself does not prosecute any cases, Donahue asserted.

"I shall personally engage in the conduct of cases before our courts, something that has not been the practice during the last 20 years," Donahue said.

"In doing so I should be helping to carry the load now being carried by the six assistants, and in all probability should be able to discharge the duties of the office expeditiously and with a saving to the taxpayers of our county."

Donahue hit sharply at the unfavorable publicity which he said Westmoreland County has received because of lax performance in the district attorney's office.

"Those of us who do any reading of current events," he said

Charleroi in Fourth Place For Development

The state Chamber of Commerce today named Charleroi as one of the winners in smaller community classifications in its 1956 community development contest.

Charleroi placed fourth in the Class "C" competition.

South Middletown Twp., Cumberland County, and Saltsburg, Indiana County, were first place winners.

The two municipalities were awarded prizes of $1,500 each by the chamber. South Middletown Twp. was cited for its inauguration of a summer recreation program, restoration of a lake area and establishment of a community center. It was named as the top community in the 2,500-10,000 population class.

Saltsburg was honored for improvements to its business district, elimination of an unsightly garbage dump and raising of a $115,000 fund for industrial development. Saltsburg won among communities with less than 2,500 population.

Other winners in the Class "C" competition were Greensboro, in Greene County, 2nd; Northumberland, 3rd.

Placing in the Class "D" competition were Cambridge Springs, 2nd; Milford, 3rd, and Smethport, 4th.

Minor Inflation Being Checked

Economist Speaks to Bankers

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — An economist said today that "persistent increase in personal incomes and growth in expenditures for plant and equipment by business" has resulted in a minor inflation during 1956-57 but that "several forces are operating to check this inflation."

Dr. Arthur R. Upgren, dean of the business administration school of Dartmouth College, spoke here before the 63rd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association.

He said that the "forces which have worked towards inflation should slacken by mid year 1957. As soon as the threat of inflation subsides, we can expect substantial easing in the entire field of capital and short term financing in order to facilitate long run economic growth."

Upgren said the increase in incomes and expenditures growth resulted in an inflation of 3.6 per cent during 1956-57. But he added that the supply of goods which are now pouring forth in increased measure is helping to check this inflation, as is an increase in personal savings.

"Still another force reducing the pressure toward inflation," he said, "is the automatic increase in savings represented by gross depreciation reserves."

O. Albert Johnson, vice president of the Hamlin Bank and Trust Co., Smethport, Pa., and president of the First National Bank of Eldred, was chosen as the association's president for 1957-58.

Steam Boiler Explodes in Erie; One Man Killed

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—A steam boiler exploded at the Lovell Manufacturing Company plant in downtown Erie Wednesday night, killing one man.

John W. Bojack, boiler room fireman, was talking to a plant official by telephone and reporting an earlier minor blast when the boiler exploded. He was killed, but six other persons in the plant fled safely.

The explosion blew out parts of the roof and one wall of the two-story, block - long plant, which manufactures washing machine wringers. Several utility poles in the vicinity were knocked down and windows broken. A small fire following the blast was put out quickly.

The plant has a total work force of about 500.

when the stiff winds return."

The Weather Bureau has predicted another hot, gusty day today.

Near Plymouth an unchecked inferno raged over eight square miles of woodlands and charged the Atlantic Ocean, destroying about 15 small cottages near the shore. A 2,000 man force fought the blaze which was driven by a 30-mile-an-hour wind.

Another uncontrolled fire raged near Otis Air Force Base and the town of Mashpee on Cape Cod. The blaze started when a flaming jet plane crashed into the woods killing the pilot, 1st Lt. Donald J. Flower of Yonkers, N.Y. Nearly 3,000 firefighters, many of them airmen, subdued the blaze early Wednesday evening but it broke out anew at midnight. At one time the fire raged within 100 yards of the Mashpee Town Hall and a dozen men were reported burned or injured in the battle, none seriously. More than 1,500 acres of woodlands were destroyed.

U. S. DEBT PAYER — Sheila M. Martin, shown writing a check in Pacific Palisades, Calif., is the gal who mailed two $60 checks to Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, asking that they be used to pay off part of the "$274,000,000,000 federal debt." The checks were handed to Humphrey by Senate Finance Chairman Harry Byrd at a Senate hearing. Byrd jocularly advised Humphrey not to ask for an increase in the debt limit. Humphrey commented, "This will help a little."

200 Rebellious Convicts Spend Hungry Night

BISMARCK, N.D. (UP)—Rebellious convicts, who rioted at North Dakota State Penitentiary, spent a cold and hungry night in a cellblock with broken windows.

The 200 inmates tried to sleep on empty stomachs when the mercury spiralled downward to near the frost point.

None of the prisoners had eaten since breakfast Tuesday shortly before a sitdown strike in the prison twine factory erupted into a four-hour riot that finally was subdued by a flying wedge of guards with guns blazing.

"There are signs the prisoners are coming around," Warden O.J. Nygaard said. "We are not rushing things."

The warden planned to hold the surly and defiant prisoners shivering in their cold, damp cells without meals until they indicate willingness to return to their prison jobs quietly.

million dolar House cut in its fund for fiscal 1958.

—The House Education Committee prepared to vote out a reduced federal school construction bill in hopes of beating the economy drive. The committee Wednesday slashed the two billion dollar bill to $1,500,000,000 for five years—much less than Democrats wanted but not far from Eisenhower's proposed figure.

Both Parties Critical

Spokesmen for both parties criticized Eisenhower's defense at his news conference Wednesday of his nearly 72 billion dollar budget for next year. The President said his budget could not be cut "markedly" without slicing programs the people want or reducing national defense.

And "you are not going to cut national defense markedly until you have eased tensions in the world," he said. He added that money budgeted for foreign relations, including foreign aid and his embattled U.S. Information Agency, "is put there to wage the peace."

Eisenhower said he may make two nationwide appeals on television to explain the need for his budget, although no dates have yet been set.

Senecas to Get New Condemnation Order

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP) — An amended condemnation order was expected to be served on the Seneca Indian nation today, bringing government construction of the 100 million dollar Kinzua Dam and a mammoth reservoir on Allegany reservation land a step nearer.

The amended condemnation of 21,250 acres of Indian land was granted here Wednesday by Federal Judge Justin C. Morgan. The government action came virtually on the eve of a hearing before a congressional committee to be held in Washington Friday. The hearing may decide the fate of the entire project.

The new order permits the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to conduct final studies on the reservation for relocating highways, railroads and private holdings in preparation for flooding the reservoir area.

Studies must be made over a maximum period of two years with the termination date set at June 30, 1958, and extendable to June 30, 1959, the order specified.

When the government filed its original condemnation last Jan. 3, the Army Engineers were granted the right to make only topographical studies.

The dam project, aimed at providing flood relief for Allegheny and Ohio River communities and averting pollution during the summer months, has been bitterly opposed by the Seneca Nation.

The Senecas contend the reservoir to be created violates a treaty of 1794 which guaranteed the Indians "undisturbed use and possession" of the reservation land. They also claim the reservoir would flood about 9,000 acres of land.

Donahue

"will remember much of the comment appearing in the public press highlighting the political system in vogue in Westmoreland County for lo these many years. I need not repeat the staggering headlines pointing out the domination of the courthouse by Buddy (Arthur B.) Turner, long the chief of county detectives. I need not repeat their statement of how he has selected the line of district attorneys. . .

"Some of the statements made in the past if not true would have been the basis for criminal and civil libel. The most flagrant of the facts pointed out should have been challenged if not true. There are not, and has not been, any serious attempt to deny, refute or challenge those statements. . ."

Donahue said if elected, his first move would be to fire Turner and replace him with an "experienced, competent, loyal and determined" chief detective. He mentioned Mayor Andrew Hudock, of Greensburg, who was a veteran State Police oficer, as the type of man he would try to appoint.

Donahue called for "methodical" organization of Republican and independent Democratic strength to challenge the courthouse machine which he said is dominated by Turner.

In the general election campaign Donahue will oppose Earl S. Keim, now an assistant district attorney, who has no opposition on the Democratic ticket for the D. A. nomination.

Testimonial for Hudok on Monday

A testimonial banquet will be held for Greensburg Mayor Andrew J. Hudock, retired State Police mayor, beginning at 6:30 at Twin Coaches.

Hudock will be honored by his fellow members of the State Police and other police from throughout the state.

Councilman David Olbum, of Pittsburgh, will be principal speaker.

tional Mortgages Inc. of Seattle, a firm known to have been involved in financing at least two of Beck's houses.

It was doubtful that Beck would answer the committee's questions. He even refused to tell the committee Wednesday if he knew his 36-year-old only son.

Besides Beck Jr., the other two said to be in Vancouver were Norman Gessert and Joseph McEvoy—relatives of Mrs. Beck Sr.

Fourth Witness Missing

U.S. Marshal Bob Parsons said in Seattle he had "no idea" as to the location of a fourth witness—Fred Ferschueren Sr. — who also is being sought by the committee. Ferschueren was the Teamsters Union's western auditor and also is believed to have kept the senior Beck's books.

The committee wants to question the four about whether they were "fronts" for Beck to take profits out of the union treasury.

Kennedy said the committee could not force Beck Jr., McEvoy and Gessert to return to the country. He explained they had not been indicted or found guilty of any crime and so could not be extradited from Canada.

However, Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said he believed the three would return to the United States. He did not indicate what, if any, action the committee would take if they remained in Canada.

Pleads Guilty to Shooting of Father

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Walter Butler Jr., 22, Langeloth, was ordered committed to the state Penitentiary for Defective Delinquents at Huntingdon Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his father last Nov. 16.

Originally indicted for murder, Judge David H. Weiner accepted the plea to the lesser charge with the consent of Dist. Atty. Michael Hanna.

To Ask Death Penalty For Slaying by Doctor

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (UP)—District Attorney R. Lee Ziegler was to ask the death penalty today in his opening statement in the murder trial of Dr. Samuel L. Woodhouse Jr., 52, Milroy physician charged with the slaying of his foster daughter.

Ziegler said he would press for a first degree murder conviction and ask the death penalty for the physician on the grounds the slaying of Elizabeth L. Woodhouse, 16, on Aug. 6, 1953, was a premeditated act.

Defense Counsel Paul E. Fetterolf, Lewistown, was expected to ask Mifflin County Court for acquittal of the physician on the ground he was insane at the time of the crime. Woodhouse was recently released from Harrisburg State Hospital on the petition of hospital superintendent Dr. H. C. Eaton, who declared Woodhouse had recovered his mental faculties.

Selection of a jury panel of 11 men and one woman with two alternates required three days and Judge Paul S. Lehman was forced to order Sheriff Fred Foster into the streets several times to bring additional juror prospects into the courtroom.

Authorities said Woodhouse showed no remorse for the crime and worked in his garden and treated two patients while the girl lay dead in the house. Investigators said the doctor told them he killed the girl because she was ill and unhappy and because he was worried about financial responsibilities.

Police said the physician told them he had planned the slaying for about one year and intended to commit suicide after killing the girl. Dr. Woodhouse was found lying in a drugged condition on the floor of his home by his wife and her mother on their return after the slaying.

District Truck Drivers in Talks With Industry

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Western Pennsylvania motor carriers agreed at a meeting Wednesday night to bargain jointly as an industry with Local 249, Teamsters Union, on a new wage contract covering 3,000 truck drivers.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the Western Pennsylvania Motor Carriers Association, which has 110 members, the Associated Motor Carriers, which has 30, and about 12 large independent haulers. Talks with the union were expected to be postponed until Monday.

Jack Harris, president of the WPMCA, and Howard Miller, president of the AMC, said a policy committee composed of seven members from each association and three from the independents would meet to select a negotiating team. The union's contracts with the carriers expire June 1.

The AMC is composed of carriers who broke away from the WPMCA after the signing of the present two-year contracts in 1955. Both Harris and Miller said they hoped differences which caused the split could be resolved and the two groups re-united. An attempt along this line was made last year, but failed.

Tanker Plane Fighting Ocean

LONDON (UP)—The Air Ministry said an American KC97 tanker plane was fighting its way toward the Azores on one engine today in an attempt to avoid ditching in mid-Atlantic.

An Air Ministry spokesman said the last message received from the plane, at 1:19 p.m. (8:19 a.m. e.d.t.) said the pilot had decided to try to make the Azores rather than ditch in the ocean nearly 1,000 miles west of England.

"If the pilot does decide to ditch it will be very difficult to find the plane in the present weather conditions," the spokesman said.

Earlier, Land's End radio reported that the plane had gone down. But this was superceded by the later Air Ministry announcement.

Diem Says Asia At Crossroads

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem of Viet Nam told Congress today that Asia stands at the crossroads of Communism and democracy.

Addressing a joint session of the Senate and House, the 54-year-old visiting Vietnamese leader paid high tribute to "the generous and unselfish assistance" given to his nation by the United States.

He said, however, his country still faces perilous times because of its strategic position in the front line of the anti-Communist nations of Southeast Asia.

Diem's address to Congress was one of the highlights of his four-day state visit to Washington as the guest of President Eisenhower.

Members of the State Highways Department will be the speakers. The meeting will be open.

Rankin Man Is Found Guilty in Slaying of Automobile Salesman

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Raymond Lawson, 25, who shot a salesman in the showroom of an automobile agency he claimed high pressured him into buying a car beyond his means, today was found guilty of second degree murder.

Visiting Judge Morgan H. Sohn, of Beaver County, fixed the degree of guilt following a two-day non-jury trial and sentenced Lawson, a Rankin, Pa., stonemason, to a term of 4-to-8 years in Western Penitentiary.

Lawson, pleading guilty to murder generally, threw himself on the mercy of the court for the fatal shooting of Jack W. Allison, a salesman for Billy Conn's Big Three Motors, an East Liberty "auto row" firm which went out of business following the shooting last Dec. 11. Wounded in the head when he advanced toward Lawson to take away his .22-caliber pistol, Allison died two days later in Shadyside Hospital.

In pleading for leniency, Lawson described how he purchased a 1957 Nash Rambler last November under the impression his monthly payments would total $46, only to learn later they were $61. The defendant said he went to the agency to see officials of the firm, taking a pistol only to impress on them the urgency of his situation.

"I'm very sorry," Lawson, father of two children, said after the sentencing this morning. "I did not intend to hurt anyone."

Two Lose Lives In Accidents

BEAVER, Pa. (UP)—Two men lost their lives in separate industrial accidents in Beaver County Wednesday.

Alfred Tyson, 57, Darlington RD 1, was crushed to death when a metal scrap box pinned him against a railroad freight car at the Babcock and Wilcox Co. here. The accident occurred when two cranes collided, causing the scrap box to fall. Tyson was an employe at the plant since 1942.

William Belich, 49, Monaca, Pa., fell 25 feet to his death from a scaffold at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plant at Aliquippa. Belich, a welder, was helping to remove an overhead door when the accident occurred.

Ay, There's the Rub

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Dr. Albert W. Snoke of New Haven, Conn., president of the American Hospital Assn., today discounted a suggestion that automation be applied to hospitals. "You cannot automate a highly-individualized personal service such as hospitals provide," Snoke said, "or at least I don't know how automation could take the place of a back rub by a nurse."

Paratroopers Killed

SIDI IFNI, Spanish Sahara (UP) — Thirteen Spanish paratroopers were killed Wednesday when a plane carrying them on a training flight crashed and burned.

Refuse to Handle 'Smelly' Monkeys

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (UP) — Forty-four airlines baggage men were fired early today because they refused to handle a cargo of "smelly" monkeys en route to the United States for laboratory experiments.

Office clerks handled the baggage of passengers arriving later in the morning.

A similar dispute broke out at the airport six months ago when a plane load of monkeys arrived from India en route to U.S. polio research laboratories. The baggage men told the management then, "We object to handling smelly monkeys."

Negotiations on the subject have dragged out since then between the baggage union and the Irish Airlines.

State GOP Needs Party Discipline to Hold Budget

Narrow Lead In Senate Can Upset Program

HARRISBURG (UP) — A key House Republican leader said today the slim state Senate GOP majority could upset the Republican's proposed 1,500,000,000 "hold the line" general fund budget if party discipline was not enforced.

The legislator, who asked not to be identified, pointed out the Republicans enjoy a comfortable 126-83 vote margin over the Democrats in the House, leaving room for a 20 vote leeway in the event of party rebellion. However, the GOP holds a narrow 27-23 lead in the Senate where 26 votes are required for passage of legislation. He said if two GOP senators "walked out" on the Republican general fund appropriation bill the party would be "in trouble."

The source said there was the danger of an interparty skirmish because the appropriation legislation was tightly drawn and compacted to fit into the 1,500,000,000 figure, an estimated 70 to 75 million dollars under what Gov. George M. Leader requested for the 1957-59 biennium.

The spokesman said the GOP's so-called "hold the line" budget would virtually write off any ambitious programs the governor might have in mind.

He added the budget would "maintain state services at their present level" but would knock out any new programs and eliminate any programs initiated during the current biennium without specific legislative approval under the "blank check" for departmental appropriation.

No "Pet" Projects

He said the budget was geared to preserving the status quo and individual Republican legislators would have to "forget" any pet projects they favor which would cost money. The spokesman said that would be the crux of the problem in lining up solid Senate GOP support on the appropriation.

"We must first take this budget to the House and Senate caucuses and sell the membership before we ever allow it to reach the floor," he said. "We can't afford to have the House pass the budget only to be caught in a Senate crossfire."

He said Senate President Pro Tempore M. Harvey Taylor and Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom would be charged with holding the Senate Republican delegation in line. The House GOP members have held to party policy all session.

The legislator also wrote off any more Assembly leadership meetings with Gov. Leader on movement of priority administration legislation. He said the governor would be "too busy playing mother hen" to his revised budget to have time for any "folderol" legislative ideas.

The GOP budget will be brought to the House floor for action next week following caucus consent. It will differ from previous budgets in that each departmental allocation will be earmarked for specific purposes to allow the Republican controlled Assembly to hold a close rein on state spending.

Reject Bonus Cut

In other legislative developments, the House GOP leadership rejected a Senate proposal to cut maximum payments under the proposed Korean veterans bonus from 500 to 350 and restrict payments to servicemen who served in the Far East zone.

The leaders conceded they received the proposal from Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, but termed it discriminatory. The question of the bonus goes on the November ballot in a statewide referendum. Enabling legislation to pay the estimated 150 million dollar bonus was in the House following unanimous Senate approval.

The House also pushed legislation providing controlled wire taps by law enforcement agencies into position for final passage after defeating an attempt to amend the bill into a flat ban on wire taps.

The House voted 188-1 to accept a conference committee report closing a disputed trusteeship loophole in extending the 1 per cent realty transfer tax another two years. Only Rep. James E. Lovett (D-Westmoreland) opposed the tax bill.

The 41,500,000 revenue raiser, the only portion of the GOP sponsored 995 million dollar "tax package" not yet enacted, will go to the Senate for concurrence next week.

West Brownsville in Squabble Over Police

A heated battle between West Brownsville borough council and Mell Deskins, police chief there since 1950, continued Tuesday night as the council voted to retire the police chief.

The council agreed to pay Deskins $2.67 per day for 53 days and to retire him effective July 31, at a total cost of $141.50.

The council's action was in response to a Washington County court decision which ordered Deskin's reinstatement as full-time officer under the state tenure act.

The policeman had been hired on a two-year contract but the borough declined to renew the contract in February, 1956, when it employed two other men as special policemen.

W. C. Porter, Washington, attorney for Deskins, said "we are certainly not going to accept any $2.67 per day for 53 days."

Deskins said the council owes him $2,750 for 11 months' salary and not the $141 50 it offered to pay him. He said he will fight the move to retire him.

Austin Murphy, borough solicitor, said the borough ordinance states a policeman will not be paid more than $2.67. The solicitor also said the borough feels it has a right to retire Deskins under the state tenure act.

"This act," Murphy added, "gives various causes for removal or dismissal of an officer. Deskins will be retired because he can't serve anymore due to health and infirmities."

Attorney Porter said that as far as he is concerned the case is over.

"The state Supreme Court has ruled on the case," he said. "If the council chooses to ignore that opinion then they must face the consequences. They will be in contempt of court, not us."

Pitt to Open Inauguration Program Today

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The University of Pittsburgh opened an elaborate three-day inauguration program today for Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, new Pitt chancellor.

Theme of the events, attended by about 500 of the nation's top educators, is "New Dimensions of Learning in a Free Society."

Today's activities included the dedication of four new buildings costing more than 28 million dollars. They were the Health Professions Building, Graduate School of Public Health Building, Engineering Hall and George Hubbard Clapp Hall, which houses the natural science departments.

Friday the program will be devoted to intellectual discussion at 17 seminars in which nearly 100 authorities in various fields of education will take part.

Litchfield will be inaugurated 125th chancellor of the university at exercises before 3,600 persons Saturday in Syria Mosque.

Six Pittsburgh foundations have made grants to the university to help finance the three-day program. The number of grants and overall amount were not disclosed, but approximately $7,500 was allotted each seminar.

"The grants," Litchfield said, "make it possible for us to examine systematically, and with the aid of some of the best minds in the country, our whole educational program."

Move Made to Name McCarthy's Widow to Senate

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A boom was developing today for the appointment of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's widow to his U.S. Senate seat.

Republican legislators were working to give Gov. Vernon Thomson, a Republican, power to appoint a successor. State law prescribes a special election.

Democrats, led by State Party Chairman Philleo Nash, charged that appointment of an interim senator would be "not in the way of a democracy but the way of a dictatorship."

Support for the appointment of Mrs. Jean McCarthy to succeed her husband was led by GOP Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski.

"The voters elected Joe McCarthy and his philosophy for six years," O'Konski said. "There is no one who could represent his point of view better than Jean."

The blaze burned for five hours in the area around Friedens, Shanksville and Lambertsville. It was the third forest fire in the county in 24 hours.

Pardons Board Probers To Meet Monday to Begin Drafting Report

HARRISBURG (UP) — The legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board will meet Monday to begin drafting its report which it expects to submit to the General Assembly sometime next week as unanimous recommendations.

While the report was expected to contain recommendations for so-called "remedial legislation" to smooth out some of the rough spots in the board's administration procedures, no censure of board members, either past or present, was exptcted.

The six members of the joint committee, appointed early in the session to look into charges that "political considerations" influenced the board in some cases apparently agree on the major results of the inquiry and indicated only one report will be drafted.

Rep. Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria), one of the two minority members, said there will be no minority report because of "the fairness shown by the (Republican) majority."

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), committee chairman, also indicated the members were basically agreed on what recommendations should be made to the Legislature. Tompkins said the committee will meet Monday at 10:30 a. m. (edt) and will have the report ready before the Legislature recesses at the end of the week.

Spent Funds

Tompkins said the investigators spent "the major portion" of their 20 thousand dollar appropriation for the inquiry, most of which probably went for stenographic services.

The investigation was sparked by Republican charges during the 1956 elections that "sinister influences" played a part in Gov. George M. Leader's commutation of the death sentence of three convicted Philadelphia killers.

At the insistence of the Democrats, the committee also looked into other cases handled.

David Darcy, Harold Foster and Harry Zeitz, convicted of killing a bystander during a Bucks County tavern holdup in 1947, escaped from the electric chair when Leader, acting on the board's recommendation, commuted their sentences to life imprisonment last September.

Figuring in the investigation of the case was Matthew H. McCloskey Jr., Philadelphia builder and publisher and national and state Democratic finance official. McCloskey's former secretary, Marion Ford, was Darcy's aunt and financed the youth's eight-year legal battle to escape execution.

However, both Miss Ford and McCloskey denied bringing any improper influence on the board to obtain clemency for Darcy.

Would Give Free Vaccine Up to 40 Years

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Legislature has been asked to appropriate $1,500,000 to purchase and distribute free anti-polio vaccine for inoculation of persons up to 40 years old.

The House bill, sponsored by Republican Reps. Marian E. Markley (Lehigh), George W. Heffner (Schuylkill) and William K. Knecht (Schuylkill), specified the vaccine would be distributed through the state Health Department.

The inoculations would be made at hospitals, clinics, local health departments and through private physicians. The bill said the vaccine would be free but apparently physicians could charge for the inoculation.

Mrs. Markley co-sponsored similar legislation to require school children to have anti-polio shots before they could attend public and parochial schools. However, the bill never emerged from her House Education Committee after receiving mixed reaction across the state and numerous complaints on the mandatory feature of the legislation.

Decision Against Common Sense

THE ACTION of the State Council of Education in refusing to allow those portions of Rostraver Township recently annexed to Monessen also to become part of the Monessen school district seems to us to flout common sense if it does not flout the law itself.

We realize that the law provides — and necessarily — somewhat different criteria for fixing the boundaries of school districts than for fixing the boundaries of municipalities. And the welfare of the children involved is certainly an important factor.

But it would be a foolish law indeed that did not recognize that the normal and ideal condition is to have the residents of a city send their children to and pay taxes for the support of that city's public schools. Common sense and simple justice require that any other condition be regarded as abnormal and to be tolerated only in the presence of other overriding considerations.

The State Council of Education has pointed to no much considerations in revealing its decision. Its position is stated in a brief letter in which it says "the township has committed itself to financial obligations on account of buildings and a loss as represented by the assessed valuation . . . would work an undue hardship on the pupils in the remaining portion of the township."

The "buildings" to which the Council refers is apparently the new Rostraver Junior High. But that building was still in the planning stage when the annexation was approved by the county court in 1955. If the Rostraver school board did not take the annexation into consideration when determining the size and cost of a new building, it was certainly remiss, and this cannot be an adequate justification of the ruling by the Council of Education.

Because this problem is likely to occur again as Monessen's growth continues, we believe all concerned — on both sides of the city-township boundary — should make every effort to reach a solution based on reason and neighborly good will. Both city and township surely have adequate resources within their own municipal boundaries to support good school systems.

We hope a way can be found to reverse the arbitrary and unwarranted action of the Council of Education. It accomplishes nothing but to keep alive a source of contention between otherwise cordial neighbors.

Why the Silence?

DAVE BECK, the embattled president of the Teamsters Union, seems systematically to be passing up every opportunity to make a straightforward accounting of his personal use of Teamster funds.

The McClellan committee had given him one such opportunity and is now giving him another. The executive board of the AFL-CIO has been trying to give him another.

But Beck steadfastly refuses. Instead of talking about his finances, he talks about his constitutional rights.

Now, of course, the Teamster president is headed for the criminal courts where the government will have to make its own accounting of Beck's finances. And a jury will have to decide whether he has defrauded the government of income taxes.

But Beck makes it very difficult for the public, including union members, to have much faith in him. If he is innocent of all the damaging accusations which are piling up against him, wouldn't his problems be immensely simplified by just explaining the arrangements under which he took money from the Teamsters' treasury, made use of it and then put it back? Why does an innocent man pass up opportunities to demonstrate his innocence?

The World Notices

ALL THE PEOPLE of Monessen can rejoice with the members of the Chamber of Commerce over the award of third prize to the Chamber in this year's community development contest among Pennsylvania cities in the 10,000 to 25,000 class. The competition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Chamber.

Carlisle was the winner with Indiana, Pa., in second place. Jeannette followed Monessen, and Donora was among the honorable mentions.

This is a splendid recognition, not only for the local Chamber, but for all the community. The things Monessen is doing and planning to do to make itself a better place to live are quite dramatic to outsiders. The world inevitably takes notice when a community takes firm hold of its bootstraps and begins to lift itself up.

The Chamber of Commerce, of course, is playing a key role in all that is going on. And part of its job is telling others about Monessen in such convincing ways as this state-wide competition.

If Monessen continues in the course it is now following, this is not the last honor that will come its way. But, of course, the greatest prize of all will be a better, brighter, happier community for ourselves and our children.

Merry-Go-Round—

Businessman Gets Lesson On Budget

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A businessman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce variety got a taste of his own budget medicine from Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio the other day.

Mr. Pearson

William J. Hull, of Cincinnati, representative of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, called on the Ohio Democrat on behalf of Ohio industrialists and chambers of commerce to urge more money than the budget allows for the Pike Island Dam. He wanted to triple the money in the budget for study of the dam in order to get the dam started sooner.

"You're the people who are writing me letters about economy," replied Congressman Hays after listening carefully. "You're the people who want to cut out sewage disposal. You want to cut out all funds for cancer research and for the cure of heart disease. Yet now you come along when something is going to benefit you and your companies and you want the budget increased.

"I'm tired of people who want economy for others but more money for themselves," continued Hays. "I've got stacks of mail on my desk from your people urging economy. And I'll vote for it where I can. But I'm not going to cut everyone else and raise you."

The Pike Dam would replace three dams on the Ohio River with one dam, thereby saving navigation time to those using the river, among them Weirton Steel. Congressman Hays said he favored the dam, but did not favor spending extra money to speed it up.

Mr. Hull picked up his hat and walked out.

Battle of the Bulge

The battle of the budget is shaping up as a bigger problem for President Eisenhower than the Battle of The Bulge was for General Eisenhower.

In the Battle of the Bulge, crack Nazi SS troops infiltrated the Ardennes Forest during the closing days of 1944 and routed Ike's 106th Division. But General Eisenhower, though taken by surprise, did not have to cope with disloyalty from his own troops.

In the battle of the budget, President Eisenhower's chief problem is disloyalty from within his own ranks.

He has trouble not only with his own top cabinet officer, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, but rank-and-file Republicans supposed to fight for him.

It's supposed to be a strict secret, but the Republican Congressional Committee has actually hired a research director, Harkey Reiter, to fight against the Eisenhower budget. His job is to dig out facts and figures aimed at undercutting the budget submitted by the head of the Republican party. Yet he is paid by one segment of the Republican party, by Republican money raised by Republicans to keep Republicans in office.

It is unprecedented for this money to be used against a Republican President.

Secret Task Force

In addition, right-wing Republican congressmen have set up a super-secret task force to battle against their own President.

Heading the secret task force is Congressman John Ray of New York, former vice president and general counsel of American Telephone and Telegraph. Working with Ray are Congressmen Bob Wilson of California, John Byrnes of Wisconsin, Gerald Ford of Michigan, John Rhodes of Arizona and Melvin Laird of Wisconsin.

Wilson was active in Vice President Nixon's previous campaigns. Rhodes is a water-boy for Arizona's Barry Goldwater, probably the most outspoken anti-Eisenhower Republican in the Senate.

Curiously, Laird formerly worked for Wisconsin's Gov. Walter Koehler, supposed to be a strong Eisenhower Republican and a former critic of the late Senator McCarthy.

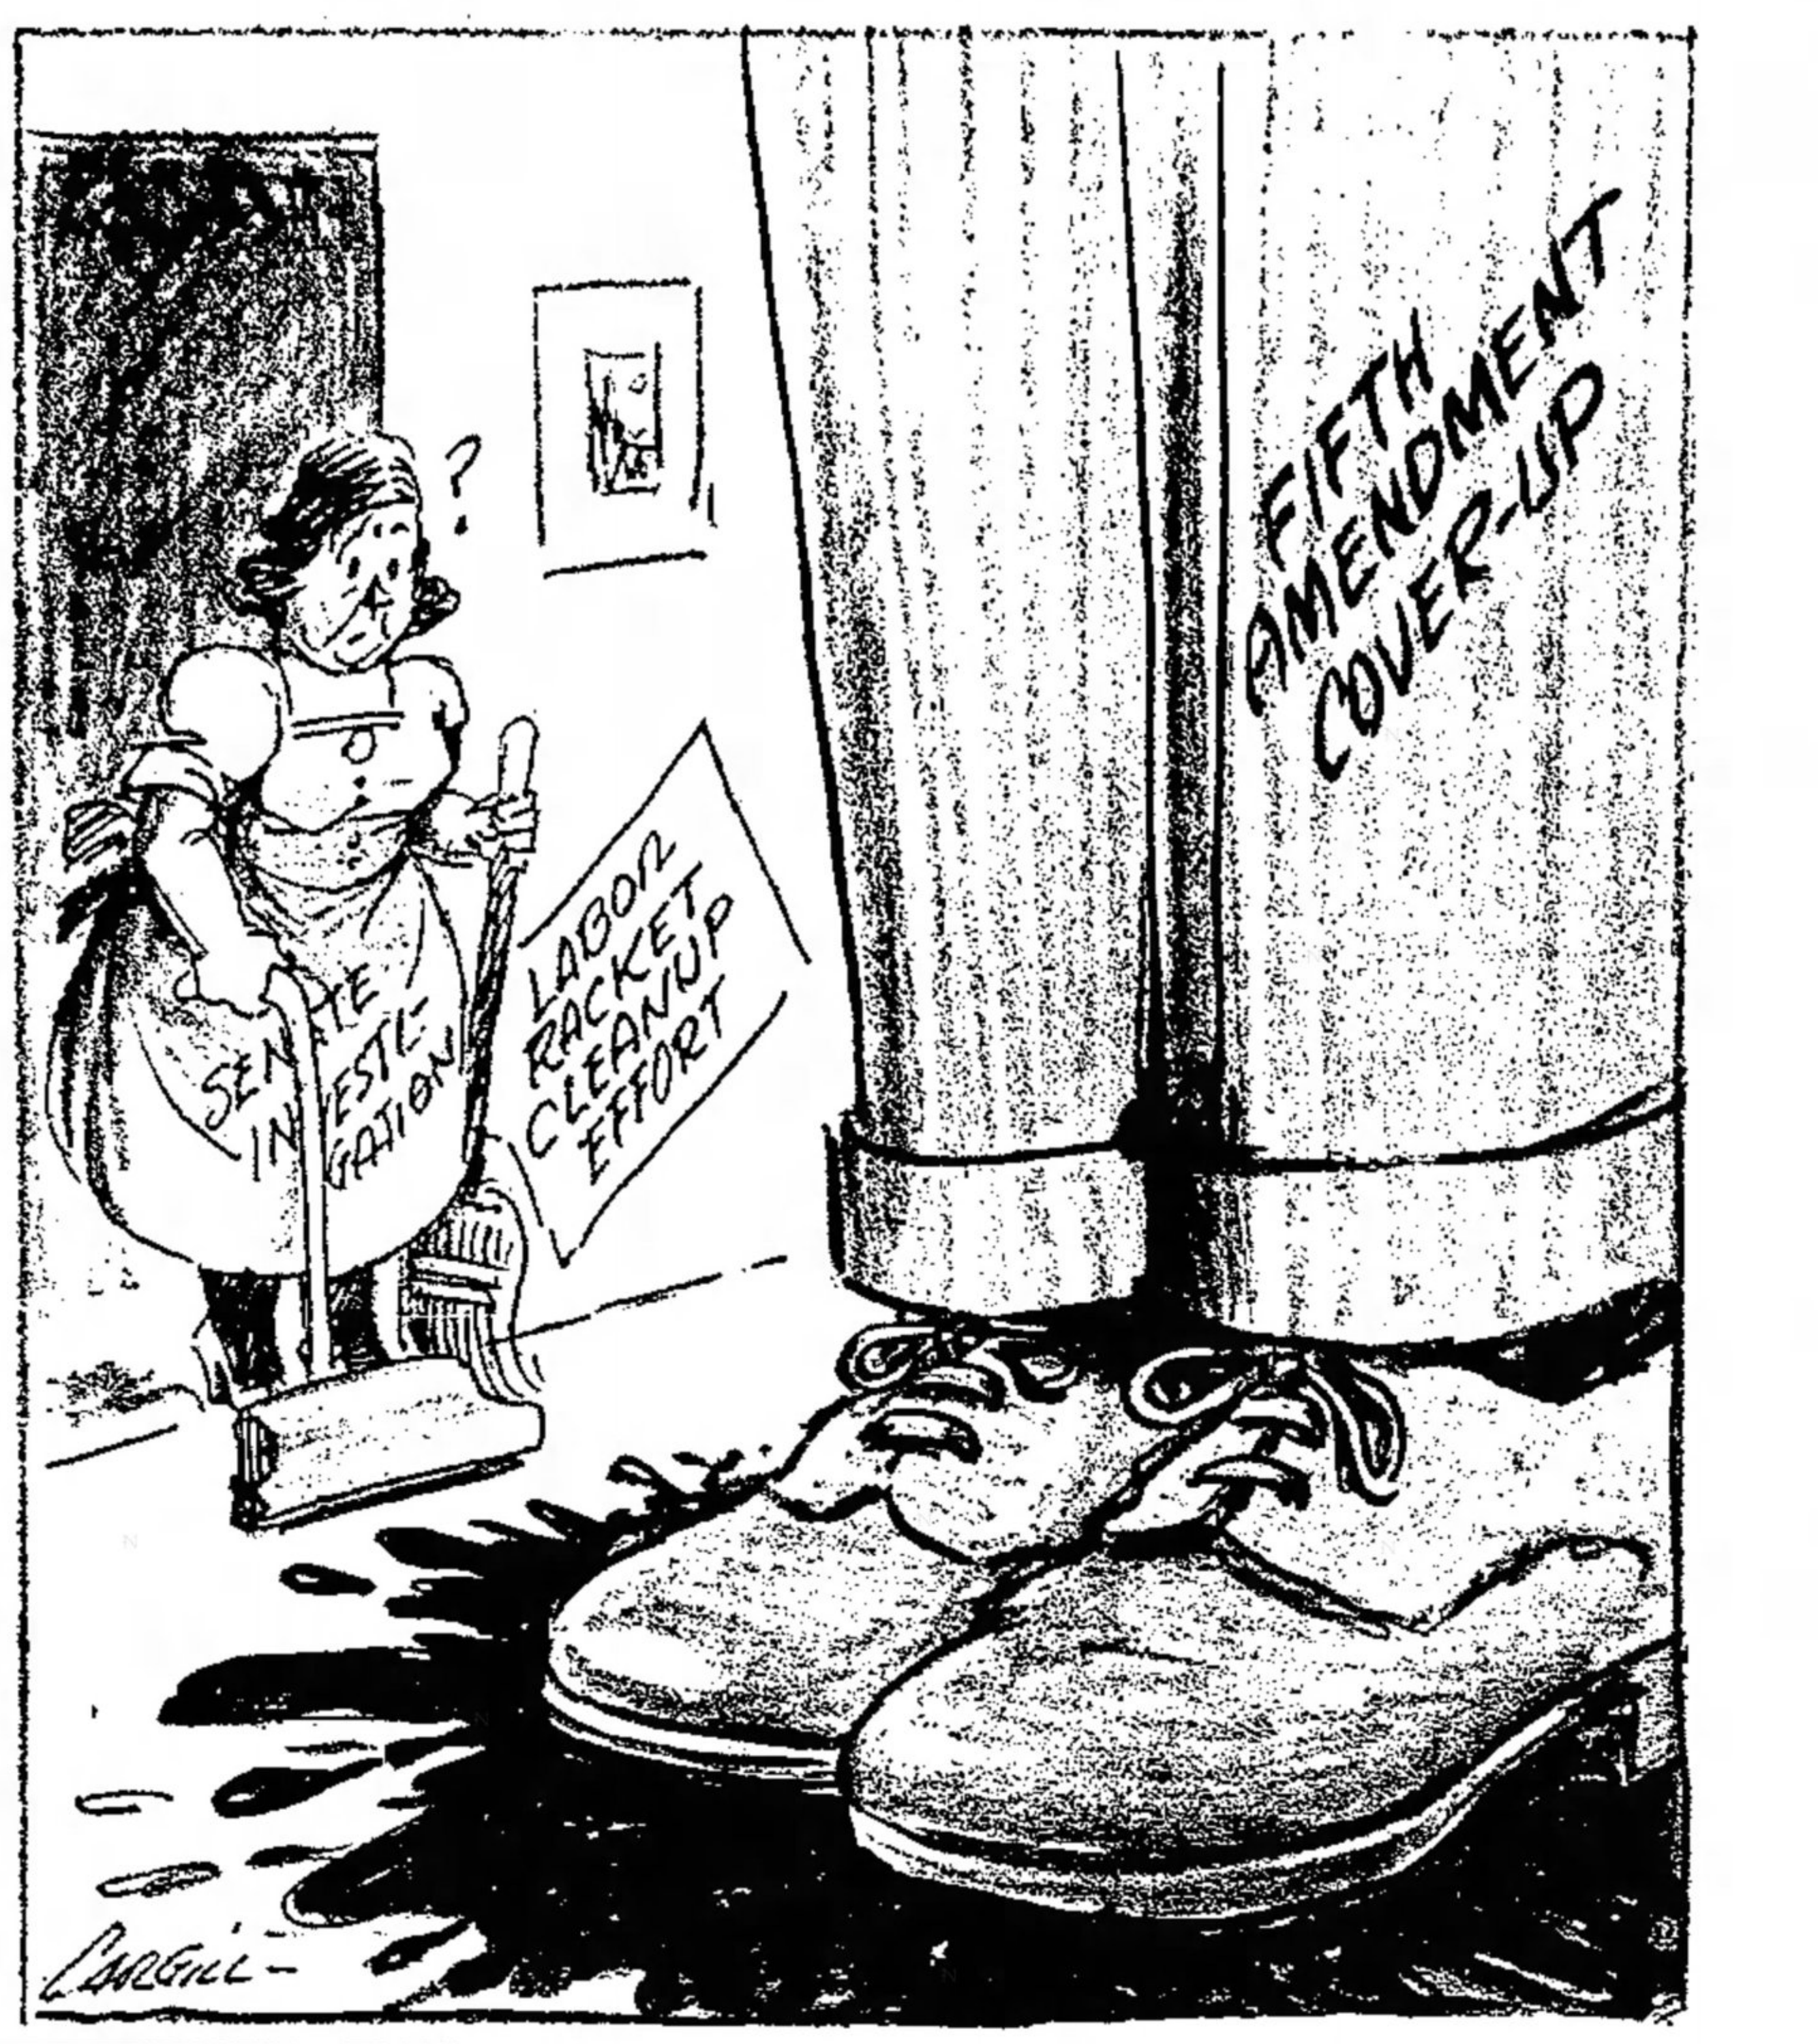
The existence of this group has been carefully concealed, not only for the press, but from "modern Republicans." Anyone who pries too closely is told that the group's official function is to prepare an expose of the nation's "fiscal policies for the past 20 years." This research will blast past Democratic budgets, of course, but it is really aimed at the Eisenhower budget and is part of the conservative bid to capture party control from Ike's modern Republicans.

Unhappy Dick Nixon

The man caught in the middle is Vice President Nixon, who is obligated to defend the Eisenhower budget and also hopes to be the liberal Republican candidate for the presidency in 1960. Nixon, however, doesn't want to antagonize the powerful Chamber of Commerce crowd. As a result, he has been doing political contortions, trying to keep on both sides of the budget fence.

Though he's reported to have given secret encouragement to the conservatives, in all his public pronouncements he has weakly defended the Eisenhower budget.

Back on the Carpet Again



Today and Tomorrow—

The Integrity of the Budget

By WALTER LIPPMANN

After the President returned from his Easter holiday in Atlanta, the White House made it known that he will now campaign for his budget. It will be hard work. For while many a President has had to fight for his budget, President Eisenhower is in a specially difficult position.

Mr. Lippmann

He has to defend a budget which his principal financial adviser and he himself have discredited. It is this attack by the administration itself on the administration's budget which has unloosed the popular demand for big cuts in the expenditures. The President has now to reverse, or at least to arrest, a very strong tide of public opinion. He will probably consider himself fortunate if he can hold the cutting below $3,000,000,000.

Position Weak

The President's position is weak because the integrity of the budget which he transmitted to Congress in January has been irreparably damaged by Secretary Humphrey, by Under Secretary Burgess, by the President's own hesitation, by the open opposition of Mr. Knowland. Except for a handful of Eisenhower Republicans, all of them uncertain as to whether President Eisenhower is really with them, the President's budget has no active defenders.

It is not because the budget is so bad or because it imposes an intolerable burden on the taxpayers. The budget is not consistent with the pledges in the platform on which the President was re-elected last autumn. The items for foreign aid are no more than a part of the bill for the foreign policy which the country approved when it re-elected Eisenhower. But a serious thing has happened. It is that the administration has destroyed confidence in the country that the budget has been completely and responsibly prepared.

The budget law fixes upon the President the responsibility for deciding what "estimated expenditures and proposed appropriations" are "necessary in his judgment for the support of the government." The principle of the law lies in the words "necessary in his judgment." The law assumes, quite correctly, that the Chief Executive is in a better position than is anyone else, anyone in Congress for example, to judge what funds are necessary for the conduct of the government and the carrying out of the laws which Congress has enacted.

This does not mean that the President's determination of the amount is final. It is not final. The last word is with Congress. But it does mean that in making a final decision, Congress shall have before it — so that it can act responsibly — the best judgment of the executive branch of the government.

Law Violated

In the handling of the budget, the administration has violated the spirit and the intent, if not the letter, of the budget law. It has sent to Congress a budget which the Treasury has denounced as too big by several billion dollars. Thus Congress and the country have been told by the President's principal financial advisers that they should not trust what is supposed to be the President's budget — that Congress and the country shall not believe that all the funds are "necessary" which the President's budget says are necessary.

This has meant a breakdown of the presidential budget system, and from this breakdown stems the rebellion which threatens not only the President's legislative program but also his foreign policy.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson told the Senate last week that "the American people are giving us a clear and firm mandate to cut the administration's budget. Anyone who doubts that statement can have his doubts resolved quickly by travelling through his home state." There is no doubt that the popular mandate to cut the budget is strong. But is it also a clear mandate? How can it be clear when there is no one, literally no one, who is now in a position to explain the budget expertly and responsibly?

Confidence Lost

The budget, as Senator Johnson remarked later on in his speech, is 1,125 pages in length. It took a year to prepare it. Four hundred persons worked on it. It cost, just to prepare the budget document itself, $4,000,000.

Having been completed, and as soon as it was transmitted, the document was discredited by the Secretary of the Treasury and irresolutely defended by the President. There can be no clear mandate under these conditions. There is instead the great loss of confidence in the budget which has encouraged everyone to attack any activity of the government which for one reason or other he does not approve of.

How is confidence in the integrity of the budget to be restored? Not, we may be sure, by the usual generalities about peace and progress. There is no easy way to restore confidence, and at bottom everything depends upon whether the President has now acquired the convictions about his own budget which he did not have three months ago.

For unless the President has convictions that he has a sound budget — be it the present budget or a new one proposed in its place — the country will not have confidence in the budget, and every debatable item will be in jeopardy.

Italian Politics Setting New Confusion Record

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Italy's leaders seem likely to set a new record for complete political confusion.

Premier Antonio Segni has resigned after months of feuding which involves not only his own Christian Democratic Party but every other political faction.

Mr. McCann

The feuding has been conducted not only between the various parties but inside the individual parties themselves.

And President Giovanni Gronchi, himself a Christian Democrat, is doing some feuding of his own.

At the moment, it seems unlikely that anybody can form a stable government before the next national parliamentary election is held. It may be necessary to advance the date of the election now scheduled for June, 1958.

Why Segni Resigned

Segni's resignation was forced when Vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the right wing Socialist Party, pulled out of the coalition cabinet on the ground the government was no longer strong enough to carry out promised land reform and other programs.

The real reason appeared to be that Saragat's leadership of his own party was threatened.

Involved in the tangle are Italy's foreign policies including its role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the proposed merger of the right and left wings of the Socialist Party, and the extent to which President Gronchi is entitled to act as a policy maker.

Premier Segni took office 22 months ago as leader of a coalition which included his Christian Democrats, with 261 seats in the 590-seat Chamber of Deputies, the right wing Socialists with 19 seats, the Liberals with 13, the Republicans with 5 and two splinter parties with 4.

Leading the opposition were the Communist Party with 143 seats and the left wing Socialists with 75.

Things started cooking last year after Soviet Russian Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev rocked the Communist world by his repudiation of the policies of Josef Stalin.

Negotiations were started to merge Saragat's right wing Socialists with the left wing Socialists of Pietro Nenni. The two factions had split because Nenni was a fellow traveller with the Communists. To date, the merger negotiations have got nowhere.

Dominant Party Splits

Dissension broke out in the dominant Christian Democratic Party.

A new complication arose because of criticism of Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino, who is a Liberal.

Ever since his election two years ago, President Gronchi has sought—to make himself a power in politics. Actually the President of Italy is supposed to act as a non-party official, whose duties make him little more than a figurehead.

In March, Gronchi wrote a letter to President Eisenhower, sharply criticizing some American foreign policies. Foreign Minister Martino refused to send the letter. That helped to cause the present crisis.

It looks now as if whoever becomes premier will be an unhappy man.

The Lighter Side—

Music to Soothe the Impatient Telephoner

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Telephone talkers, do you feel the need of a sweet melody in the ear while waiting for someone to be called to the phone to talk to you?

Do you get more and more impatient, with the receiver at your ear and nothing issuing therefrom but tiny spasms of static? Do you champ at the mouthpiece? Do you yearn for a tranquilizing pill, or a few bursts of Elvis Presley, to ease the intolerable tension?

Oh, come on now. Say yes. And having said it, hurry right down to the Seishin Trading Co., Ltd., 11 Miyuki-Cho, Shizuoka, Japan.

There you will find the answer to your problem. The Japanese, at long last, have brought the jukebox to the telephone — a wedding that promises to be at least as momentous as that of ice cream and flavored soda water.

Displayed At World Fair

The invention came to light at the World Trade Fair here. The device looks like the base of a desk telephone, with a cradle to put the receiver on.

Here's the way it works, according to the pamphlet prepared by the Japanese firm: "When a man rung up is not found near the telephone and must be sent for, or when something urgent renders it impossible for you to respond to the telephone call at once, just put your receiver on this machine, and an orgel sie will start playing music automatically sending out a sweet melody to the ear of the man who gave you a ring but is kept waiting and impatient to talk."

Harassed and raspy business men will agree it's unpleasant to be kept waiting on the phone, particularly, as the pamphlet says, "When one is busily occupied on account of the pressure of work."

In the inscrutable way that Japanese wordsmiths have with the English language, it adds: "Such unpleasantness can easily be dispensed with, and services to important clients can be decidedly improved upon by use of our subject machine which will bring to the ear of the man, impatient to talk over the phone but is kept waiting, with sweet music, thus killing his impatience."

Already A Repetoire

The melody to be tinkled in your ear to slaughter impatience should be carefully selected: "We have ten and several tunes already prepared for use with our machine."

As listed, they include such as: Lake of Swan, Danube Wave Waltz, Kojo No Tsuki, Tennen No Bi, Home On The Range, Cradle Song of Schubert, Kuroda — Bushi, Sado — Okesa, and Oedo — Nihonbashi."

Well, the concept is certainly a brave one. Whether "Lake of Swan" blurted from a receiver will have sufficient charm to soothe the savage breast of a quivering executive who has been told to wait is something that will bear watching. Will the man explode? Or will we find him relaxed and singing "Home On The Range" to the accompaniment of the throbbing phone? Bahzai!

Fireworks Planned at Stadium

Monessen's Memorial Stadium will be a noisy place on the evening of July 3. The local Lions Club plans a rip-roaring fireworks display to feature the Independence Day celebration hereabouts . . . Genial Ed Witzberger, head man of the Pittsburgh Racing Association, explains why the new cars were booked into the Heidelberg Raceway as early as this Sunday: "For a change we decided to get the new cars before they were nicked up." . . . Conrad Lupori, star member of the Bellmar High pitching staff, underwent a serious heart operation only a few years back. He was hospitalized for three months, with his life hanging in the balance.

On hand for the occasion were Ed Sweadner and his fine Charleroi High band . . . The Rostraver Twp. Lions Club is mapping plans for a midget baseball league program this summer . . . Ironic Twist to Jr. WPIAL Ruling

There's an ironic twist to that Junior WPIAL decision which forced Rostraver Junior High ahtletes to return their jackets or lose their eligibility. Two members of the committee which rendered the decision are principals at Junior Highs where jackets have been awarded in recent years. As a matter of fact, jackets were handed out this past February at one of the schools! . . . Incidentally someone should get busy to see that the rule it taken off the book, or at least modified. We'll go along with those who feel that Junior High awards should be held to a minimum. But when the boys earn the money themselves, then it seems a little far-fetched to take the jackets away and scold for not obeying rules.

* * *

Speaking of the Junior WPIAL, the lawyers within the group are apparently hard at work. Someone has now turned up a dust covered rule which forbids Junior Highs from playing against Jayvee teams. The penalty is the loss of a year's year's eligibility. Last season, a couple of valley Junior High elevens obviously violated the rule. So if some one wants to protest, go right ahead . . . Personally we'll go along with WPIAL president William Dolde who complains: "We have too many rules we can't enforce. Let's get rid of these antiquated rules and quit making cheaters out of some of our schools."

Williams Continues His Blistering Start

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—This was a while back on an occasion when Ted Williams had a bad day at Yankee Stadium and, later at dinner, he was getting the needle from Fred Corcoran.

"You remind me," said Corcoran, "of Sam Snead and the U.S. Open. Before the Open Sam is as loose as ashes. He shakes hands and you can't hardly feel it. But once the Open starts, Sam gets so tight he almost breaks your hand with a handclasp."

"That's you in Yankee Stadium. You squeeze the bat so hard it looks like you're trying to make sawdust out of it."

Easy And Gay

Tall Ted laughed heartily, surprisingly easy and gay despite his bad day at bat, and asked:

"What did you hit in your day, Fred?"

Which brings to light another facet of the chameleon Williams personality. Unlike most competitors, when he has a big day he wants to be left alone because he feels that most of the handshakes merely are from those who like to be with a winner.

"You meet your friends," he said, "when you go zero for four."

So Ted must have had a lonesome dinner last night.

All he did Wednesday was smash three home runs to drive in all four Boston Red Sox tallies in a 4-1 win over the White Sox. It was a feat which, acknowledged as one of the all-time great hitters, not even he had been able to do but once before in his illustrious career and that was way back in 1946.

Total At Nine

Those three homers also ran his total to nine for the young season, a milestone he didnt reach until July 26 last season. And, it probably would cost me my baseball writers' card if I didn't report that it put him nine games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927.

Those three big blasts in four times at bat also raised his batting average to a stratospheric .474.

His fine start after a good spring is bearing out his contention and, barring injury, Williams apparently is in for many a lonesome dinner this season. Particularly, as Corcoran says, if he quits trying to make sawdust out of the bat.

New Eagle, Perry In 4 to 4 Tie

New Eagle and Perryopolis battled to a 4-4 tie in Mon Valley League action last night.

Jerry Farkus slammed a pair of doubles for Perry in a game which was dominated otherwise by pitching.

No Title Bouts Set By IBC

NEW YORK (UP) — Promoter Jim Norris, beset by title troubles in six divisions, considered today the possibility of a July outdoor heavyweight show — without benefit of a champion—as a sort of consolation prize.

Since heavyweight ruler Floyd Patterson refuses to defend for Norris' International Boxing Club, top contenders Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson and unbeaten Eddie Machen might fight in the star bout at Yankee Stadium, Norris said.

It was apparent today that big Jim's plans for staging a fight for the vacant featherweight title were definitely blasted. He had nearly closed for Cherif Hamia of Algeria and Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria to battle for the 126 pound crown at Syracuse, N.Y., June 7. But Wednesday he was informed that Hamia had flown from Paris to Algiers and would be unable to keep the Syracuse date.

To Avoid Heat

And middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson told Norris his proposed title defense against welter ruler Carmen Basilio in July must be delayed until September, "because I will not risk a collapse in the midsummer heat."

Adding to the Norris woes, light heavyweight champion Archie Moore announced at Stuttgart, Germany, today he would like to defend his 175 pound title some where in Germany, despite the warnings of U.S. boxing officials that if he doesn't defend at Detroit against Tony Anthony of New York before July 7, his title will be vacated.

No Soap

When the June 7th Hamia Bassey feather title fight for Syracuse evaporated, Norris thought he might replace it on TV-radio with the already signed Joe Brown Orlando Zulueta lightweight championship bout in Denver. But Denver promoter Joe Dupler says Brown and Zulueta were promised him for June 19, and that's when he wants it.

Accordingly, Norris and match maker Billy Brown were striving desperately today to arrange a June 7th match for the sponsors who want "a big one" in order to sell a flock of razors and blades before ather's Day on June 16.

And Norris seemed to be getting a close shave from all angles.

City Softball League Meets Again Tonight

The final pre-season meeting of the City Softball League will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Revens Club.

Secretary Emil Crisi said that all teams interested in the upcoming season MUST have representatives present.

League president Doc Destefano has indicated that he want to start play next Monday.

"We are already two weeks late," pointed out Destefano.

So far six teams have shown a definite interest in the league. Two more have indicated that they might take place in the 1957 activity.

Valdes Defeats Johnny Holman

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP) — Ponderous Nino Valdes figured he was back in the heavyweight title picture today as a result of his unanimous decision over Chicago's Johnny Holman Wednesday night at Portland Auditorium.

The ninth - ranked Cuban battered his willing opponent throughout with looping lefts and rights to the body for his seventh win in a row.

Holman, 201, had trouble coping with Valdes' longer reach, but managed to score well in the fourth, fifth and seventh rounds. Late in the seventh he staggered Valdes, 207¾, with a right to the head but was unable to follow up.

Townsend, Danser at MHS Banquet Tonight

Two Monessen High sports figures, whose careers here were separated by three decades, will speak at the all-sports banquet in the MHS cafeteria tonight.

They are S. S. Townsend, currently principal and basketball coach at West Newton; and Gene Danser, currently football coach at Mars High.

It was Townsend who organized the first Greyhound basketball team in 1915. The following year his quint won the Mon Valley title. The next season his cagers were recognized as the unofficial WPIAL champions. And a year later, they made it official.

Townsend was also football coach in those days. His elevens were extremely successful.

Much Sought

Since the venerable Towney is retiring at the end of the current school year, his appearance at the MHS banquet was much sought.

The other speaker this evening will be Danser, a former Weiss Award winner who continued his football success at Penn State.

For the past two seasons, the popular Danser has directed the football fortunes at tiny Mars High.

The toastmaster for the affair will be Dr. Joseph Dudas, a School Board member who played under Townsend.

Expected to make brief remarks are Alfred Hazelbaker, Junior High principal, Henry Furio, Senior High principal; John Lancas, president of the School Board; Nick Cullen, chairman of the Athletic Committee; Dr. Joseph Pallone, Superintendent; and Mayor Hugo Parente.

Major Awards

There will be two major awards tonight. One of them will be the Weiss Award which goes annually to the senior boy who has demonstrated scholarship, athletic ability, good character, etc.

The second award is a new one, established in memory of the late Frank McKosky, former coach and athletic director at MHS. It will go to the senior athlete who is the "best all-around school citizen."

Jackets will be awarded to all senior athletes. That is a traditional chore of Bob Manderino and his Movie Club.

This year for the first time in history, there will be a feminine touch to the banquet. Tennis coach Antoinette Valentine and two girls from the squad will be on hand as well as the head drum major, who this season happens to be a girl.

All MHS varsity coaches will be on hand to present their athletes.

As usual, friends who have contributed services to the sports program at Monessen High will also take part in the affair scheduled to begin at 6 p. m.

Charleroi Raps West Newton, 20-3

Charleroi had no trouble mauling West Newton, 20-3, in a Mon Valley League game yesterday.

The winners scored eight times in the second inning. During the frame, Charleroi batters stroked two homers, two triples and two doubles. Larry Papini had a homer and triple, himself.

Walt Cieply had a good day, too, with a single double and triple. George Zuraw authoried a four bagger in the onslaught.

The game was called after five innings.

Softball Umpires Need Members

The Monessen Softball Umpires Association needs more members. Secretary John Lipnicky hoisted the "help wanted" sign today.

"We have been contacted to supply umpires for several leagues this season, including the new Tri-County League," said Lipnicky. "That means we need additional members."

Men who are interested in softball umpiring should mail applications to Ralph Trili at 659 Reed Ave., Monessen.

Bellmar Plays Host Today to Monongahela

Coach Bap Manzini's surprisingly good Bellmar baseballers just might throw their weight around in the Section 17 race today.

The Canes play host to Monongahela at the Fayette City diamond. Should the home team win, then defending champion Charleroi is assured of at least a tie in the final standings.

As matters stand now, the Monongahleans can't afford to lose another game if they aret o overtake the front-running Charleroians. Coach Elmo Natali's challengers have a 6-2 record for the season.

Bellmar has divided eight section assignments. The Canes lost earlier to the Monongahelans.

One other game today will send Donora to California.

Tomorrow Charleroi will play host to Monessen. The Cougars are heavily favored to win that assignment and thereby assure a tie for the title even if Bellmar doesn't win today.

Score in Fight for His Sight

CLEVELAND (UP) — Dr. Charles Thomas planned to X-ray strike-out king Herb Scores injured eye today but warned of "premature optimism" that the stricken Cleveland Indian pitcher's sight will be saved.

"It is still far too early to predict whether the eye will or will not be saved," the Cleveland specialist said. "The exact extent of damage to the eye will not be known for a day or two and possibly for even longer."

The 23-year-old Score, felled Tuesday night by a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald in the first inning of the Indians' game with the New York Yankees, was reported to have spent a fairly comfortable night. Thomas prescribed "complete rest and quiet" and has Score in a completely-darkened room at Lakeside Hospital.

More Rest

Thomas pointed out that he may even delay the X-rays if he feels Score should have another day of complete rest.

The horror over one of the most serious accidents in baseball history gave way somewhat to optimism Wednesday when Thomas revealed that Score is able to see out of the eye. He pointed out that fact "is encouraging" but not conclusive.

"Fortunately, the ball struck him flush," Thomas said. "It caught the top of his eyebrow bone, his cheekbone and his nose. The nose was fractured. Apparently the bone structure of his face absorbed most of the impact that would have destroyed the eye. There is no brain injury. He also suffered a cut on the right eyelid and a bruised right cheekbone."

State of Shock

Score's teammates and the Yankees were still in a state of shock Wednesday with McDougald virtually inconsolable. The Yankee infielder, however, withdrew his statement that he would quit the game if Score lost his sight after the Cleveland pitcher sent him a message from the hospital room "not to worry about it."

Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg reported a flood of telegrams encouraging Score in his battle were pouring into the hospital. A Long Beach, Calif., man even offered one of his eyes but the offer was not considered seriously.

Fayette Trips Donora, 4 to 1

Don Young pitched masterfully to lead Fayette City to a 4-1 win over Donora in Mon Valley League baseball action yesterday.

Young fanned 12 and gave up just three hits. He pulled himself out of a real mess in the final inning when two walks and an error loaded the bases with none out. The next two batters fanned and the final hitter tapped feebly to the mound.

Ray Ermlich was the batting star for the winners, driving in two runs in the fifth innings with a triple. Manager Harry Muckle chipped in with two singles and a double.

Monessen Slams Five Homers in MVL Assignment

The Monessen Ozarks unloaded a barrage of home runs yesterday to whack Van Voorhis, 16-5, in Mon Valley League action at Ninth Street Park.

The decision was the second straight for the Ozarks. And once again, Bill Mitnick received credit for the pitching win.

The lanky Mitnick took over for starter Fuzzy Anderson in the third inning with the Ozarks behind, 5-0. He blanked the Vans after that, fanning eight batters in three and two-thirds inning while permitting just two safeties.

Meanwhile the Ozarks rallied behind Mitnick, slamming five homers to tie a record at Ninth Street. Bob Mastracci made the circuit tour twice, driving in no less than seven runs.

Pappy Johnson, Ron Danko and Mel Clickovich also made the circuit tour for the victors.

Open Scoring

The Vans opened the scoring in the second inning on singles by Mike Quattro, Rich McCabe and A. Smith.

In the third, the visitors added four more, Bob Koch walked, Mike Young reached base on an error and Mike Shuback walked to load the sacks with one away. Ron Neccial singled over third to score two runs and Quattro bingled to drive in another.

At that point, Mitnick was called to the mound. He fanned McCabe but Smith singled to account for another run.

After that, Mitnick set the Vans down in order, except for a single by Neccial.

The Ozarks got going in the third inning. Ron Danko was hit by a pitched ball and Tom Rotherham singled. Bob Mastracci singled in Danko but Bob was tossed out when he tried to go to second. Johnson then slammed one over the left field fence.

The Ozarks wrapped things up with seven runs in the fourth inning.

Big Inning

Chuck Johnson and Mitnick singled. Danko promptly followed with a blast over the right field scoreboard.

The rally continued as Rotherham made first on an error. Mastracci cleared the fence in right field.

Pappy Johnson walked and Neil Hill singled. Chuck Johnson, up for his second time in the inning, also singled to score Johnson and Hill. At that point, Skip Burkhart replaced starter Roger Nedrow on the mound for the Vans.

The Ozarks added a couple of runs in the fifth. Mastracci and Clickovich both homered.

In the sixth, four more runs poured across. Valla singled after Hill had reached first on an error. Chuck Johnson forced Hill at third but Mitnick advanced both runners with a sacrifice. Danko singled in Valla and Johnson. Rotherham was hit by a pitched ball and Mastracci's fourth hit of the game sent both runners across.

The game was called after six innings because of darkness.

Mitnick has now run his strikeout total for the season to 22 in just ten and two-thirds innings.

Tips on Putting

Best results on a breaking putt are obtained by estimating the amount of break and lining up with a spot that far to the right or left of the hole — depending, of course, on the direction in which the putt will break.

If you give the matter thought, I think you are bound to realize that the "push-or-pull" method is less accurate than the "lining-up-with-the-spot" method. After all, the bulk of your putting practice and experience is on putts. that are straight away, or nearly so. Thus it follows that you should be more accurate in putting the way you are looking. It is very difficult, if not impossible, to guage the amount you are going to push or pull a putt.

Furthermore, when you line up with a particular spot you are committing yourself to a definite line. This prevents — or at least cuts down on — these putts where you change your mind halfway through the putting stroke. To putt well, it is vital to decide firmly in advance how you mean to strike the ball and the line you wish it to follow.

Italain Hall to Practice Tonight

Manager Steve Hardoby has called a "crucial" practice session for his Italian Hall softball team for this evening at 5:45 p. m. in City Park.

"If we have enough players interested in taking part in the City League this season, we will sponsor a team," said Hardoby. "Otherwise we will not. In other words, tonight's practice will tell the tale."

Babich Injured At Pirate Farm

Gillespie Youth to Return Home After Serious Arm Hurt

Rich Babich, former Bellmar High baseball star, was expected to return home soon to recover from a severe arm fracture suffered earlier in the week.

A spokesman for the Pittsburgh Pirates said today that Babich will probably miss the rest of the season because of the injury.

The Gillespie youth suffered the hurt on Monday night while playing for the Pirate farm club at Grand Forks, N. D., in the Class C. Northern League.

At the time Babich was playing first base. A wide throw pulled him off the bag into the path of an oncoming runner.

Serious Hurt

His left arm was fractured in several places. The Pirate front office admitted the injury was "serious."

Following the mishap, Babich was rushed to a nearby hospital where he required some surgery.

Babich was the leading hitter on the club, rapping the ball at a .400 clip. Prior to the accident, he had collected a homer and two doubles in Monday's game.

The Pirates said that the ex Bellmar athlete will go on the disabled list until he's ready to return to action.

Plan Major Improvements at W-J Grid Field

The athletic field at Washington and Jefferson College will undergo improvements over the next two to three years at a cost of more than $150,000, according to president Boyd C. Patterson.

Immediate plans call for construction of steel and concrete bleachers having a seating capacity of 1,500 persons and containing complete dressing rooms and other facilities underneath.

The structure will be located on the south side of College Field where present temporary bleachers will be remodeled to flank both sides of the new bleachers.

A press box and temporary bleachers on the opposite side of the field will also be remodeled, providing a total seating capacity of 5,000 persons compared to the present 3,000.

Other Work

Other immediate work includes layout of an oval cinder track with a 220-yard straightaway, addition of a practice area for football, landscaping, and installtion of wire link fencing around the field.

Long-range plans call for raising and reorienting the entire playing surface of the field.

The improvements to College Field are part of the Greater Washington and Jefferson Program which was undertaken for a ten-year period starting in 1953 when a successful $1,000,000 fund-raising campaign was launched.

The money provided $600,000 for endowment increase, $300,000 for a new Student Activities Center which is expected to open this month, and $100,000 toward improvements now underway at the athletic field.

MHS Sports Teams Are Idle Today

Because of the Monessen High sports banquet tonight, all Greyhound athletic teams will be idle today.

The baseballers will appear at Charleroi tomorrow while the tennis team will also go to the Magic City.

Both contests were orginally scheduled today, but were moved back to avoid conflict with the sports banquet.

To Break Ground Soon For New District Lake

Ground will be broken on Friday, May 17, for a new Dutch Fork Lake near Claysville, a short distance off of Route 40.

When completed the lake will be almost a mile and a half long, one-quarter mile wide and about 27 feet deep.

The project is being undertaken by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. It is scheduled for completion by this fall.

Fish Commission officials William Voight and R. Stanley Smith will be on hand for the groundbreaking ceremony.

Bill Harrison, president of the Washington County Sportsmen and Conservation League, will serve as toastmaster. It was his group along with the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs who agitated for the new lake development.

Larry Tarr, chairman of the ponds and lakes of the Federation, will also be present for the ground-breaking.

The Mellon banking interests have provided a shovel for the occasion and the public is invited to attend.

The lake will be fed by waters of the Dutch Fork Creek.

Fox Petitions . . .

Fox hunting petitions for the year 1957 have been filed with the Game Commission, in compliance with provisions of the Game Law, by the following counties: Butler; Fayette; Greene; Indiana; Lancaster; Venango; Washington; Westmoreland; and York.

The Game Law provides that 250 or more residents in any county who held a hunting license last year, or who are farmers or sheep raisers, may petition the right to hunt foxes throughout the year except for a 60-day period between April 1 and May 30.

Valid fox hunting petitions filed later by residents of other counties will be recognized, as were those above, through legal notices in newspapers of the counties affected.

The sea horse is believed to be the only fish with a grasping tail.

Licenses Revoked . . .

Since early this year the hunting privileges of seven more men have been revoked by court action for offenses committed during the state's 1956 hunting season.

Five of them were denied for five years because in each case the defendant shot at and wounded a human being in mistake for game, which is a misdemeanor.

In two cases the injured persons were mistaken for a squirrel. In two more the person looked like a wild turkey to the shooter. In the fifth and sixth instances the victims were shot, one fatally, in mistake for a bear.

The offender's license was withheld by the Court for an indefinite period. The other case dealt with a man who was found in possession of parts of a deer taken in close season. His hunting license was denied by the Court for a period of three years.

Between the opening of the regular deer season, early last December, and the middle of March this year 51 Game Law violators were convicted of throwing the rays of a light on deer while in possession of a firearm. In view of such serious violations, and in a determined effort to discourage illegal acts, the Game Commission in each case revoked the hunting license of the lawbreaker for a period of three years.

Tough on Imports . . .

"A good indication of the carry-over of ringnecks from the previous hunting season and winter is seen in the activity of wild cock pheasants when spring liberations are made."

"So observes Game Protector Mark Hagenbuch, Columbia County. "This spring," he says, "it was rare that a wild cock did not fly in to give battle to a game farm raised male pheasant when it was released in the open."

They dropped their sixth straight under the lights Wednesday, 7-1, to the Chicago Cubs Righthander Dick Drott, a rookie up from the Pacific Coast League, pitched a six-hitter for an easy win in his first complete game in the majors.

The Pirates lost this one in the four night defeats were extra-inning games.

The Cubs collected 13 hits off four pitchers, with the loss going to starter Vernon Law, but they made ose of three Pirate errors to score five of their seven runs.

A double by Dale Long and a single by Walt Moryn in the third inning accounted for their two earned runs.

The Pirates' opened the scoring regulation nine innings. Their pas' with a run in the first inning, but that was the extent of it for the home club.

Drott, who led the Coast League in strikeouts with 184 last year, fanned six Pirates, including Dick Groat who went down swinging for the first time in 76 at-bats this season.

The Pirates, idle today, open a four-game series with the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night. The teams play an afternoon game Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday.

Redlegs Near Top after Ninth Straight; Indians Trip Yankees

By FRED DOWN

Don Hoak and Warren Hacker provide iron-clad evidence today that General Manager Gabe Paul has scored another trade coup in his efforts to bring the Cincinnati Redlegs their first pennant since 1940.

Acquired from the Chicago Cubs Nov. 13 for pitcher Elmer Singleton and infielder Ray Jablonski, Hoak and Hacker were key figures as the Redlegs ran their winning streak to nine games Wednesday night with a 76 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Hoak blasted a grandslam homer in the eighth inning to give the Redlegs their winning margin while Hacker gained his third win of the year—the same number he scored all last year for the Cubs.

The triumph moved the Redlegs to within a halfgame of the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who suffered a 21 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Chicago Cubs walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 71, and the St. Louis Cardinals routed the New York Giants, 134, in other N.L. games. In the American League, the Cleveland Indians beat the New York Yankees. 104, the Boston Red Sox downed the Chicago White Sox, 41, the Detroit Tigers mauled the Washington Senators, 113, and the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City Athletics, 112.

Newcombe Tagged

Hoak, a .215 hitter last season when he went 0-for-12 against Don Newcombe, connected for his grand slam off the big Brooklyn right hander to snap a 33 tie and negate Gil Hodges' three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth. Hoak increased his league-leading average to .415. He also leads the circuit with 21 runs batted in.

Substitute first baseman George Crowe, also acquired in one of Paul's trades in 1955, accounted for Cincinnati's first three runs with a pair of homers. Crowe, filling in for the injured Ted Kluszewski now has hit five homers. Hershell Freeman finished up for Hacker.

The Phillies handed the Braves their third straight defeat behind a seven hit pitching effort by rookie Don Cardwell. Cardwell, who won his second game, made Danny O'Connell his ninth strike out victim to end the game after doubles by Johnny Logan and Bill Bruton produced the Braves' run in the ninth. Bob Bowman's sacrifice fly drove in Philadelphia's winning run in the sixth.

Dick Drott, 20-year-old rookie, pitched a six-hitter as the Cubs won their third straight game and dealt the Pirates their fourth straight loss.

Hal Smith knocked in six runs and Stan Musial collected three hits in the Cardinals' 19-hit assault on Johnny Antonelli and four successors.

More Home Runs

Gene Woodling and Vic Wertz blasted three-run homers and rookie—oger Maris hit a two-run roundtripper as the Indians routed Art Ditmar and made it two straight over the Yanks. Early Wynn, aided by relief artist Ray Narleski, gained his third victory despite Mickey Mantle's fourth homer of the season which accounted for all New York's runs.

Ted Williams slammed out three homers to raise his average to .474 and account for all the Red Sox' runs. Ted homered off Bob Keegan in the first and third innings and then walloped a two run blast in the eighth to seal the White Sox' fifth straight loss. Frank Sullivan pitched a four-hitter for his second triumph.

Charley Maxwell drove in three runs and Al Kaline and Ray Boone two each to help the Tigers extend the Senators' losing streak to 10 games. Duke Maas received credit for his fourth win although Jim Bunning finished up with four hitless innings of relief.

Billy Loes pitched an eight-hitter and Billy Gardner and Gus Triandos homered for the Orioles, who stopped the Athletics' longest winning streak in two years at four straight.

Kluszewski to Undergo Surgery

CINCINNATI (UP) — Ted Kluszewski, the Cincinnati Redlegs' big first baseman, pinned his hopes today on a short operation that might see him back in uniform in a couple of months.

The ailing slugger told doctors Wednesday to go ahead with an operation to correct a "slipped disc" in his lower spine that has hampered his running and fielding for the past 14 months.

Parents to Treat Rostraver Boys

Rostraver Junior High athletes, who had their sports jackets taken away last week, will be guests of their parents on Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Webster Fire Hall.

"It will be an informal affair, with lots of food and soft drinks," said a spokesman for the parents. "Everything is being handled by the parents."

Although the event was planned before the jacket episode, mothers and dads have dressed up the affair to ease the sting of that incidents.

The jackets were taken from the boys as the result of a Junior WPIAL ruling.

Republic Steel Boss Predicts Price Increase

FLEMINGTON, N J. (UP)—C M White, chairman of Republic Steel Corp, said today a general steel price boost "considerably in excess" of $8 50 a ton will be "justified" this summer.

He told the annual stockholders meeting wages, including cost of living increases and fringe benefits, are set to go up around 20 cents an hour July 1 under the industry's three-year labor pact.

"We firmly believe that these higher costs justify a price increase considerably in excess of the inadequate price increase ($8 50 a ton) which followed that labor cost increase incurred last August when our new labor contract became effective"

White also took the occasion of the annual meeting to make a long-term forecast about demand in the steel industry. He predicted by 1967 demand for steel will necessitate capacity of about 160 million tons or 20 per cent greater than the present capacity of 133 million tons.

Movie Censorship Code Proposed by Church Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—Adoption of a new movie censorship code in the state has been listed as the top legislative objective of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches

The Rev. O. B Poulson, executive director of the council's Division of Social Relations, told a legislative "field day" meeting of church and civic organizations here Tuesday that "Hollywood films are bad enough, but the foreign movies are worse." He said there was an "urgent need" for control over movies

The Pennsylvania State Board of Censors was outlawed several years ago by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling. Bills are now in the Legislature for the drafting of a new code which would overcome legal objections.

The Rev. Mr. Poulson also praised Gov. George M. Leader for his opposition to a proposed referendum on legalized horse race betting which cleared the Senate recently Leader indicated he would veto the bill if it reached his desk.

Nuclear Fallout Charges Denied

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission today brushed aside a charge by Reporter Magazine that thousands of Americans "may yet turn out to be victims of nuclear tests in Nevada.

The commission said its tests are conducted under rigidly-controlled conditions and all available evidence has "confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health"

The magazine made the statement in a copyrighted article, "Clouds From Nevada," which comprised most of its current issue. It said residents and visitors to Nevada and Utah have been exposed to radioactive fallout despite AEC precautions.

An accompanying editorial said the commission "has frequently used the strictures of the security regulations to cover up its failures to give adequate protection or warning to a sizeable number of people in the (weapons testing) region."

In response to a query from the United Press, the AEC said "precautions are taken to keep the amount of local fallout to as low levels as possible, and to measure and record the radiation exposures which might be received by persons in the area around the test site.

"The many measurements which have been taken have confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health."

New Automobile To Be Made By Ford Co.

DETROIT (UP)—The new Edsel automobile, scheduled for introduction late this year, can't be classified as a big brother of the Ford, or a little brother of the Mercury.

The car, Ford Motor Co.'s entrant into the medium priced field, is all new from its oval grille to its distinctive trunk.

It has been learned the Edsel will come equipped with double headlights, a split front bumper and wrap-around grille. The center of the grille is oval shaped, similar in design to the sports car of another automaker.

The company itself has released no details of the Edsel's design. A spokesman would only say "the Edsel is easily recognized from front, side and rear. It is distinctive without being ostentatious."

The car will be introduced about Sept. 15, while production is scheduled to start in mid-July. A few prototype models have been built at a plant outside Detroit.

Polish Cardinal at Vatican for Study

VATICAN CITY (UP)— Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski may stay here as long as two months for an extensive Roman Catholic Church study of the position of its members behind the Iron Curtain, informed sources said today.

The Polish primate, who arrived here Wednesday night, was expected to spend today resting and conferring with his five-man staff in their quarters at the convent of the Polish Order of the Sisters of the Holy Family.

Although strict secrecy shrouded his schedule, Vatican sources said it was not likely he would have his first interview with Pope Pius XII today as had been expected. There was no reason given.

The cardinal's arrival was a psychological victory for Catholicism in its ideological battle with Communism for the 75 million church members who live behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains.

Vatican sources said the major purpose of the visit would be a "thorough examination" of possible ways of improving the situation of Poland's 5 million Catholics under the yoke of Communism

Relations between the Roman Catholic Church and the Warsaw government have improved slowly since Wladyslaw Gomulka, a Communist who has steered Poland somewhat out of the Soviet orbit, rose to power in October.

Wyszynski himself was allowed to resume his duties as primate after three years under arrest.

Since the cardinal is the only church primate to get out of an Iron Curtain country since Communism swept Eastern Europe after World War II, he can supply invaluable guidance to church officials here.

Offspring Forgotten

HAMILTON, Ont. (UP)— A father who left his 6-year-old son unclaimed for one month in the General Hospital explained to police that "we were moving and in the confusion we forgot a few things." The boy, Clarence Hicks, had been admitted to the hospital for an ear infection. When no one claimed the boy after a month, police were notified. They found the parents in Milton, Ont.

French President Royally Welcomed In Visit to Italy

ROME (UP)—Italy put its government crisis aside today to give French President Rene Coty a lavish reception.

Both Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and out-going Premier Antonio Segni shoved aside political cares to meet Coty at the railroad station, keeping up a "business as usual" front during his state visit to Italy and the Vatican.

Companies of Italian soldiers, sailors and airmen were drawn up at the station while a battery of army howitzers fired a full 101-gun salute for the visiting Coty.

Gronchi put off naming a new premier for Italy's disrupted government until after Coty's visit. He held further consultations Wednesday with wrangling political party chiefs who appeared agreed on only one thing:

This will be a difficult crisis to solve.

Ladies Guild in Fashion Show At Church Tuesday Evening

A fashion show, featuring sports and dressy summer cottons and a number of communion dresses, was held by members of the Ladies Guild and Christian Mothers of St. Edward's Catholic Church in the church social rooms Tuesday evening.

The show was arranged through Fisher Bros., Monessen, and was narrated by Edythe Rihtarcik.

Models were Loretta Kwiatkowski, Dorethea Yelanich, Dorothy Zelenski, Glenda McKee, Mary Frances Vesely, Mary Jo McGinsky, Magdlyn Bolchak, Dorethy Muzina, Charles Swintak and David Turchak.

Between showings music was provided by a singing trio, Janice Halgus, Antoinette McGinsky and Jean Kroskie, and accordion music by Victor Worry. The affair was arranged by Dorothy Halgus and Mary McKee.

At the opening of the business meeting the Rev. Charles Ribick, pastor, lead the Christian Mother's prayers. Mrs. Ruth McGinsky presided. Plans were made to hold a Mother-Daughter communion at the 8:30 mass on Sunday.

On Sunday, May 19 between masses the Guild is planning a bake sale. The committee is Zora Kostalac, Mary McKee and Mary Worry. The annual Mother-Daughter banquet will be held on Sunday May 26 at Twin Coaches. Arrangements are in charge of Cora Sablac, Ida Mae Berna, Delores Shimko, Justine Levondoski, Millie Torchak and Jennie Torchak.

The first communion Sunday is scheduled for June 9. The Christian Mothers are arranging a communion breakfast for all taking part in the services. Mrs. McGinsky named to this committee Margaret Baron, Catherine Berna, Marie Klistchak and Mary Vargo.

A social hour followed the business meeting. Hostesses were Agnes Marinak, Mary Kay Fredrick, Concetta Rocca, Gloria Lint, Ann Oros, Margie Ciccianni, Anna Blatnik and Frances Winn.

Reuther to Meet With Chrysler President Today

DETROIT (UP) — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has agreed to meet with L. L. Colbert, Chrysler Corp. president, to talk over a UAW local flare-up that could shut down the firm's plants across the country.

Reuther called on both Chrysler officials and officers of the UAW to "exercise restraint and maintain normal operation" until the labor dispute has been discussed at top-level meetings.

Chrysler filed a five-million-dollar damage suit Wednesday against UAW Local 212, charging Chrysler employes covered by the local have refused to move dies, fixtures and other equipment for transfer to a new plant in Twinsburg, Ohio. The suit further asked an additional $500,000 a day for each day henceforth union employes fail to handle equipment as ordered.

A Cool Response

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)—The Iowa Tax Commission was rebuffed when it attempted to get three floor fans for its offices. The executive council discovered the tax offices are air-conditioned.

Need for Evangelism

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (UP)—An Asian church leader said today Christians have lost their "sense of urgency" about the "unfinished task" of winning the world to Christ.

Dr. D. T. Niles of Ceylon, head of the Evangelism Department of the World Council of Churches, warned U.S. protestant leaders that this is no time for resting on their oars.

"The events of the world are moving at a terrific pace," he said, "and we are already seeing the calamaties that are in store for us if the obedience of the church does not keep pace with the events of history."

Niles spoke before the annual meeting of the U.S. Conference for the World Council of Churches. Leaders of 32 major Protestant denominations are attending the three-day meeting here.

Niles said Christian evangelism seems to be suffering from a lack of "conviction that anyone needs to be evangelized." He said this can be traced to a realization that "the performance of the Christian community in moral and religious living shows little superiority over that of adherents of other religions."

But he pointed out that Christians are not called upon to preach the claim that they are better than anyone else.

"The authority of the evangelist lies not in what has happened to him but in what has happened to the world," he said. "God has loved the world in Jesus Christ, and Jesus has died for the world . . . Evangelism becomes compulsive on those who knows this truth."

Lopsided Outcome

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)— The nine-team San Francisco High School baseball race ended this week in a six-way tie for first place. Three of the teams apparently were not outstanding.

Five-cent Subway Ride Is Road to Freedom

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN (UP) — A five-cent subway ride through the Iron Curtain is the most widely used escape route to freedom.

Here in isolated Berlin anti-Communists literally use an underground railroad to flee to the West.

They use the subway which still connects East and West in this split city. And usually the escape trip is an uneventful, short and fast as the 17-block ride on the New York subway from Times Square to Columbus Circle.

Since refugee records were started in 1949, the flight of 1,800,324 East Germans has been recorded in West Berlin and West Germany. Many, many thousands more fled to the West without registering.

Perhaps as many as half of those who sought asylum in West Berlin came by subway.

There have been dramatic escapes. Soviet Zone residents trying to flee have been shot on the East-West border. Heavy trucks with open throttles have crashed through permanent barriers erected by the Communists.

Men have swum the Havel River and border canals to freedom. People have escaped on bicycles, horse-drawn carts, canoes, motorboats, rowboats, buses and excursion launches.

Young children have been brought across the border in baby carriages. Older folks have been pushed across in wheelchairs.

Four members of a family from Ruedersdorf, a few miles east of Berlin, asked asylum in the French sector of the city after a roundabouh three-day journey of 200 miles over canals and rivers in a passenger excursion boat belonging to the family.

A group of three famiies from a village near Magdeburg rode the 75 miles to Berlin by railroad train disguised as a funeral cortege. They were dressed in black and carried wreaths — their passports to freedom. Instead of going to a West Berlin cemetery, as they told border guards, they reported to a refugee reception center.

But most of the flights are less spectacular. The great drama and danger come when refugees try to enter West Berlin from surrounding countryside of the Soviet Zone, as distinguished from the Soviet sector of East Berlin. Only four roads are open and all are guarded. Along 75 miles of border are barbed wire entanglements, roadblocks, ditches, watch-towers and posts manned by police with tommy guns.

At the 28-mile border between East and West Berlin, it is another story. The Iron Curtain has great holes in it.

The Reds have channeled traffic through special checkpoints and instituted customs checks but for some reason have never placed great restrictions on traffic.

Subway and elevated trains cross the border without regular checks. People cross it on foot merely by showing identity cards. East Germans excite suspicion only if they bring along suitcases.

Most come with only the clothes on their backs, but one dog lover brought six dogs with her. She made six subway trips. On each trip she brought one dog.

Big Eater Is Losing Votes

AUGUSTA, Maine (UP)—State Rep. Albert E. Cote of Lewiston, the heaviest politician in the state of Maine, thinks a state publicity buildup he received is costing him votes.

Cote, 358 pounds, had his picture taken with a mound of chicken carcasses to 'help the Maine chicken business.'

A few weeks later he obliged the state Department of Industry and Commerce by posing with a platter containing four dozen eggs. This was billed as Cote's average breakfast, he said.

"I've got to soft pedal this 'big eating business,'" Cote said Tuesday night. "It's costing me votes back in Lewiston—all they think I do here is eat!"

CINAMMON TOAST SPECIAL

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon allspice
12 thin slices bread

Soften butter or margarine, and blend sugar and spices with this. Spread bread with the mixture. Cut in halves diagonally. Place on baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 Degrees F.) about 10 minutes.

CREAMED SPINACH

To contents of 1 can of strained spinach, add ½ cup milk. Stir over low heat until thoroughly heated. Season with dash of allspice and serve sprinkled with paprika.

Although they are called the "Thousands Islands", this section of the St. Lawrence river actually contains more than 1,700 islands.

Dainty Cake Is Popular For Bridal Shower

May can well be called the pre-bridal month when, although April showers are over, there are still plenty of a different type. It seems as if friends are vying with each other for entertaining the bride-to-be.

It is a practical idea for groups to consult with each other, and possibly to cooperate, so that there will not be too many demands upon the bride's time and also upon friends who want to show their good will but upon whose pocketbooks many showers make too grave a demand. It is often a good idea for each guest to make a small contribution that can be spent for one gift, rather than for a deluge of small luxuries.

Refreshments should not be elaborate, but everyone will enjoy looking at a lovely table. There may be dainty sandwiches with the coffee, and perhaps the centerpiece may be an attractively decorated cake. Spring flowers can be used to good purpose. A few violets will contrast with white frosting. The plate may be wreathed with the leaves plus a few of the flowers.

One may like to mix batter for a good-sized sponge-cake or angel food and to bake it in a tube pan. After baking, the cake should be allowed to cool on a rack before it is placed on a service plate. Then it may be frosted with a fluffy icing flavored with vanilla or lemon juice.

FESTIVE SPONGECAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 eggs
2 cups sugar
4 teaspoons lemon juice
¾ cup hot milk
Fluffy frosting
Violets

Sift together 3 times the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until thick and light, about 5 minutes. Add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add lemon juice. Fold in flour, a small amount at a time. Add hot milk and stir quickly until thoroughly blended. Pour into ungreased 10-inch tube pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Invert pan on rack and let stand 1 hour, or until cake is cool. Remove from pan and place upside down on serving plate. Swirl fluffy frosting over sides and top of cake. Decorate top with violets and dust lightly with colored sugar. Encircle base of cake with violets and leaves.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

WHEN TEMPERATURES SOAR, palates wilt unless you revive them with a cool, refreshing molded meat loaf. This one, of chicken, with cream cheese sandwiches makes a toothsome buffet platter.

Molded Chicken Loaf Is Refreshing Variation

Somehow it always seems warmer during the first heat wave than it does later when temperatures soar much higher. We seem to have little appetite for hot foods. This will doubtless return when we have adjusted ourselves to warm weather.

Edith Barber

There is nothing more refreshing than a molded meat loaf, and we are quite likely to choose one as the main feature when we are entertaining guests. It is not difficult to plan for this, with the good quality canned chicken now available. In my experience, nothing has improved more than these canned chicken products.

We like to season the gelatine mixture with various herbs, a bit of onion and minced celery. We make the base with unflavored gelatine and consomme. Usually, we use a loaf pan, but any shape of mold will be appropriate. The loaf seems to cut more easily when sliced with a sharp knife.

Cold ham or turkey, or a platter of mixed cold cuts may accompany the chicken loaf. If you like a hot dish, creamed or scalloped potatoes or macaroni and cheese may be chosen. There will probably be hot rolls or dainty sandwiches with the main course.

For dessert at this time of year, what could be better than strawberries and cream? You may like your cream whipped, as do some others, but I shall choose plain heavy cream if I am asked.

QUICK CHICKEN LOAF

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
1 cup cold water
2 cans (10½ ounces each) consomme
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cans (5 ounces each) boned chicken or turkey, diced
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped pimento

Sprinkle gelatine on cold water to soften. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Add dissolved gelatine to consomme with salt, lemon juice, Tabasco and Worcestershire sauce. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in diced chicken, celery, green pepper and pimiento. Place in 5-cup loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and garnish with slivered toasted almonds, if desired. Yield: 8 servings.

BROWN AND WHITE SANDWICHES

Use equal number white and whole-wheat bread slices. With biscuit cutter, cut white bread slices into rounds. Use doughnut cutter for whole-wheat bread, and remove small rounds. Spread white rounds with well-seasoned cream cheese, and cover with the whole-wheat circles. Place extra cream cheese in center, sprinkle with paprika, and cover with small whole-wheat rounds.

Ulcer Patients May Use Some Safe Seasonings

The well-chosen diet, beginning with infancy and carrying on to adolescence, is insurance against what are known as deficiency diseases. It is not the cure-all, however, as many persons hopefully believe, for all health disturbances.

In certain conditions, an accepted diet adequate in all respects must be modified. This is the case when an ulcer of either the stomach or the intestines has been diagnosed. Then roughage, strong acids and certain spices will be forbidden. Persons accustomed to eating highly seasoned foods often find recommended diets uninteresting because they are so bland. They are worthwhile to follow, however, as I have seen the results in persons who have conscientiously followed doctors' orders.

A number of nutrition specialists have been endeavoring to find out more about the seasonings which can safely be used in ulcer conditions. It has been found that a goodly number of spices and herbs have no ill effects when used in combination with food. Cinnamon, allspice, mace, thyme, sage, paprika and caraway seem to cause no distress.

Pepper, mustard, chili powder, cloves and nutmeg, though, should be avoided, according to tests made on 50 ulcer patients. The use of the "safe" seasonings mentioned above should be used discreetly and, if there are any ill effects, of course, be avoided. Not all patients react in the same way, but it is worthwhile attempting to make a bland diet more palatable.

Diet Helps Types of Arthritis

Arthritis is sometimes labeled as a modern disease. Anyone who has even a touch of lameness is quite likely to diagnose this as arthritis. This is quite natural as symptoms are not well defined, even by specialists.

Previously, any condition that produced pain in the muscles or in the spine was popularly considered as a rheumatic condition. Temporary relief was possible through doses of tablets much like the aspirin used so frequently today.

All sorts of diets were tried and found wanting, except in the case of gouty arthritis. When a gouty condition is present, there is an increase of uric acid, and it has been found that the avoidance of food high in "purines" is advisable. Then, such foods as liver and kidney and certain others are forbidden.

Everyone who has a touch of arthritis is ready to try anything to bring relief. As there are always remissions which come naturally, diets that have been adopted are often given the credit for this relief. For this reason those who have tried the oil treatment that is supposed to lubricate the joints have given it credit for improving their condition when such credit is actually undeserved.

During digestion and absorption of oil, none of it goes directly to the joints. Much research has been done by nutrition departments of universities, but authorities agree that, except in the case of gout, there is no dietary remedy.

One recommendation in regard to diet is general. This concerns weight, as extra pounds create strain on joints. The daily meals should be adequate in every respect, with plenty of fruits, vegetables, milk and other protein foods.

Business Men Named Horatio Alger Winners

NEW YORK (UP) — Eleven American business men who rose from humble beginnings to the top of their chosen fields today were named winners of the annual Horatio Alger awards.

Two former winners, Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the Radio Corporation of America, and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, will present the bronze plaque awards Thursday.

The winners included:

John Bentia, president of Alliance Manufacturing Co., Alliance, Ohio.

Gwilym A. Price, president and chairman of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa.

John Ware, chairman of the Northeastern Water Co., and American Water Works, Philadelphia, Pa.

Soft Coal Fuel of Future, Expert Says

The rapidly expanding world demand for energy is making bituminous coal the fuel of the future, says Donald C. Jones, director of the Mineral Industries Extension Services at the Pennsylvania State University.

Even atomic power relies on coal for the generation of electric power used in nuclear plants, Jones said, pointing out that coal is being used by Atomic Energy Commission plants at the annual rate of 10 000 000 tons and will be used at a rate of 23 000 000 tons per year when present expansion plans are completed.

Coal will grow in importance as a source of power as sites for hydro-electric development become harder to find and as we face shortages in oil and natural gas.

Coal is now producing about 50 per cent of our electricity. This year electric utilities will burn about 135 000 000 tons of coal and it is expected that by 1975 perhaps 500 000 000 tons of coal will be needed to generate electricity," Jones explains.

Because of limited reserves and the growing demands for gasoline and other high grade petroleum products natural gas and oil cannot be counted on to continue carrying their present share of the power generating job. Hydroelectric dams will continue to provide [illegible] power but on a diminishing scale percentagewise. Cost and [illegible] of disposing of radioactive wastes make it unlikely that atomic [illegible] source of power.

Firm Gets Funds In County Project

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A federal court jury has settled a contract dispute involving work on the floors of an addition to the W[illegible] Township High School in Westmoreland County.

The jury awarded Keystone Floors Inc., a Pittsburgh firm, $8,379 under its contract with Poe[illegible] Construction and Supply Co., Greensburg, which was doing work at the school five years ago. The sum [illegible] the balance of the contract price for work Keystone did in leveling a floor.

Tito's Policies Prove Expensive

By NORMAN J. MONTELLIER

BELGRADE (UP)—Doing business with Russia has cost Yugoslavia millions of dollars because [illegible] communism was not [illegible] enough for Marshal Tito's [illegible] independence.

Since June 1955 when Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union signed [illegible] of economic agreements [illegible] Moscow and their five-year rift [illegible] over, things have become more [illegible] between the two.

The cost to Yugoslavia has been enormous. But government officials [illegible] cautious in discussing it. [illegible] foreign policy is the [illegible] Difficulties [illegible] Vladimir Cerc, state under-secretary for general economic affairs, "have cropped up." For the [illegible] he said, Yugoslav-Russian economic ties "depend on the Soviet attitude."

Reduce Total Deal

The 1955 agreements included a 110 million dollar trade pact covering Soviet purchases of such Yugoslav agricultural products as [illegible]. By 1957 the total [illegible] has been reduced to 70 million dollars and implementation of even that [illegible] is slow.

The Soviet Union promised Yugoslavia a credit of 160 million [illegible] for industrial development [illegible] materials and foreign exchange [illegible] 50 million dollars has come through.

A promised atomic reactor has not materialized. Most deeply the Yugoslavs feel the Soviet failure to [illegible] a pledged 175 million [illegible] aluminum plant at [illegible] on which Yugoslavia pinned [illegible] future industrial [illegible]. The Yugoslav plant was [illegible] West Europe's [illegible] needs now running [illegible] a year ahead of European production.

Second To Norway

The United Nations has rated [illegible] second to Norway as the most favorably [illegible] for aluminum production because of availability of cheap hydroelectric power plus Yugoslavia's high grade bauxite deposits. Yugoslavia is building a huge hydroelectric system in the backward zone of Montenegro and Hercegovina. It [illegible] planned on a big enough scale to allow for future exports of electrical power to neighboring countries. It would have been a sort of Balkan TVA with unlimited possibilities for developing the most depressed region of the country.

Nautilus Pacific Bound for Tour

WASHINGTON (UP) — The atomic-powered submarine Nautilus will join the Pacific Fleet for a two-month tour late this month, the Navy announced Tuesday.

The Nautilus, the nation's first atom-powered submarine, will leave New London, Conn., about May 15 and go to the West Coast by way of the Panama Canal, the Navy said.

Wants to Drop City Bus Firms From Paying Tax

HARRISBURG (UP)—Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany and five other senators today proposed relieving city bus firms from payment of the 6cent state gasoline tax, due to drop to five cents at the end of this month.

Mahany said his bill if enacted would help many bus companies which have financial difficulties because of continuous declines in patronage.

A companion measure also proposed cutting the registration fees for buses to $1 each. Currently, the fees run as high as 180 for the larger capacity vehicles. Fees are based on bus capacity.

Mahany said the bill may have to be amended to make it apply to all bus firms engaged in urban transportation. He said, however, that the crosscountry firms such as Greyhound and Lakes-To-Sea which compete with railroads were meant to be excluded from the proposed tax exemption.

State GOP to Use Circus for Fund Raising

HARRISBURG (UP) — Pennsylvania Republicans will open their big drive for funds for next year's statewide election with a $100-a-ticket performance of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus at the Hershey Sports Arena June 7.

The Republican Finance Committee of Pennsylvania said it aimed to fill the 7,000 seat arena with holders of the $100 tickets.

Chairman Samuel E. Ewing, Haverford, said the circus party not only will enable the GOP to get an early start for the 1958 gubernatorial campaign but also will be a means of honoring Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom.

"We hope to present him (Bloom) —on the spot—with the funds he needs to get ready for next year in the form of a check for the circus proceeds," Ewing said.

Ewing said special Pennsylvania Railroad trains from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Williamsport will carry the party faithful to the entertainment.

The 48 states of the U. S. have an average area of about 63 thousand square miles.

Comedian Knows Why TV Comedy Is Poor

By WILLIAM EWALD

William Ewald

NEW YORK (UP)—TV comedy has reached a state of near-collapse.

Such members of the funny business as Milton Berle, Martha Raye, Red Buttons and Buddy Hackett have popped out. Jackie Gleason and Sid Caesar, both giants, are floundering. There are no really promising recruits in sight.

Henny Youngman, a skilled craftsman in the funny business for more than 30 years, thinks he knows why. Most TV comics, he says, don't even belong in the business. What's more, says Youngman, the men responsible for putting comedy on the air wouldn't know a funny man if they fell over one.

"Almost all of the guys you see on TV now are just mechanics," said Youngman today. "They're not funny inside. They don't think funny. They don't feel funny.

"There are a few exceptions. Groucho Marx was always crazy on and off stage. Benny's a natural. George Burns is another very funny guy offstage. These guys stay in business not only because they know what they're doing, but because they know how to handle success, they know how to enjoy life."

Not so of the new breed, said Youngman. "Sid Caesar is great on TV," he said. "But inside he's no clown at all. You sit down at a table with him and he doesn't even open his mouth.

"Or take Buddy Hackett. He just wasn't equipped for the job. Somebody sees him telling a couple of jokes he's picked up somewhere and they put him on. But he doesn't last because he's not funny.

"Or Sammy Davis. Everybody keeps telling me how funny he is. All he really is, is a mimic doing the same thing week after week with those two cornball uncles of his. There's nothing new or fresh there.

"Or Garry Moore. He's typical of the new bunch. I don't even know what his audience is laughing about. All he does is play games with them."

A few comics pass Youngman's inspection. "Gleason is funny inside," he said. "Phil Silvers knows what he's doing. Buttons is cute. Gobel has a sense of humor. Carney is a clever man, but I don't think he's able to work by himself.

Accuses Hope of Theft

"Bob Hope is pretty funny, but he's the guy who stole my style of short jokes. He stole my writers, too.

"But you take Mickey Rooney. He's an actor. He's not funny, yet he tries to do comedy. Tennessee Ernie Ford? He stinks all around. Dick Shawn takes 40 minutes to get started. None of these new guys have heart—the sort of thing a Bert Lahr has. What we have is a world of mediocrity."

A large part of the trouble, said Youngman, lies in the men responsible for programming. "The advertising men and the guys who put shows together don't know what's funny themselves. That's why they're in trouble all the time. There are too many people in this business who don't belong in it.

"Now, me, I enjoy my work and I play 40 weeks a year. So I've got no worries. And I'll tell you, after looking at some of these other guys on TV, I think I'm a million dollar potential."

When the particles of water forming a cloud are very small, they reflect the light and the cloud appears white. As the particles grow larger, they become raindrops and absorb the light. This causes the cloud to appear black.

Your Health—

Are You Physically Fit To Engage in Sports?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

So your company is planning a recreation program this year, and you think you'll take part.

Well, before you embark on any ambitious activities in softball, bowling, golf or horseshoe-pitching programs, let's take stock of your physical capabilities.

Ask yourself:

Am I in good physical condition? Have I had a thorough physical examination recently? Have I gained too much weight?

Do I exercise regularly or will this be the first strenuous activity I have done in some time? Do I become short of breath upon severe exertion? Is my eyesight as good as it used to be?

Will I be given an opportunity to train for the sport, or will I be expected to take part in a full game the first time out? Will we do this for fun and companionship or will we go at it like a job?

Are we likely to become dejected if we lose? In short, will these activities really be recreation or just plain work?

Even if your answers indicate that you should go ahead and join the program, better check with the company physician about your health. He'll know how strenuous the sports program will be and whether you can take it.

Question and Answer

Mrs. K.: Can you tell me what might help or cure Buerger's disease?

Answer: There have been many types of treatment advised for Buerger's disease.

The production of fever by injection of typhoid vaccine may be helpful. Injecting a salt solution into the veins is also of value. Cutting certain nerves which supply the blood vessels or injecting alcohol into them may also help.

Rice supplies the major food requirements for about one half of the world's population. It is as high as 80 per cent of the entire food intake in some countries.

Post Office Budget Is Considered

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today was expected to approve an only partly-restored postal budget despite a new threat of postal cuts next year.

The committee was expected to approve restoring only 32 million dollars of 58 million cut from the postal budget by the House.

But Postmaster General Arthur E Summerfield, fresh from a recent victorious budget bout with lawmakers, warned Congress Wednesday he would need up to 90 million dollars more than was requested in his new budget originally to maintain current services.

The only alternative he said would be new reductions in postal service in fiscal 1958.

Rep. J Vaughan Gary (D-Va) chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee that considered the postal budget, indicated to reporters he felt this would not be a bad idea. Gary said Congress should look into the possibilities of curtailing some postal services before substantially increasing post office appropriations.

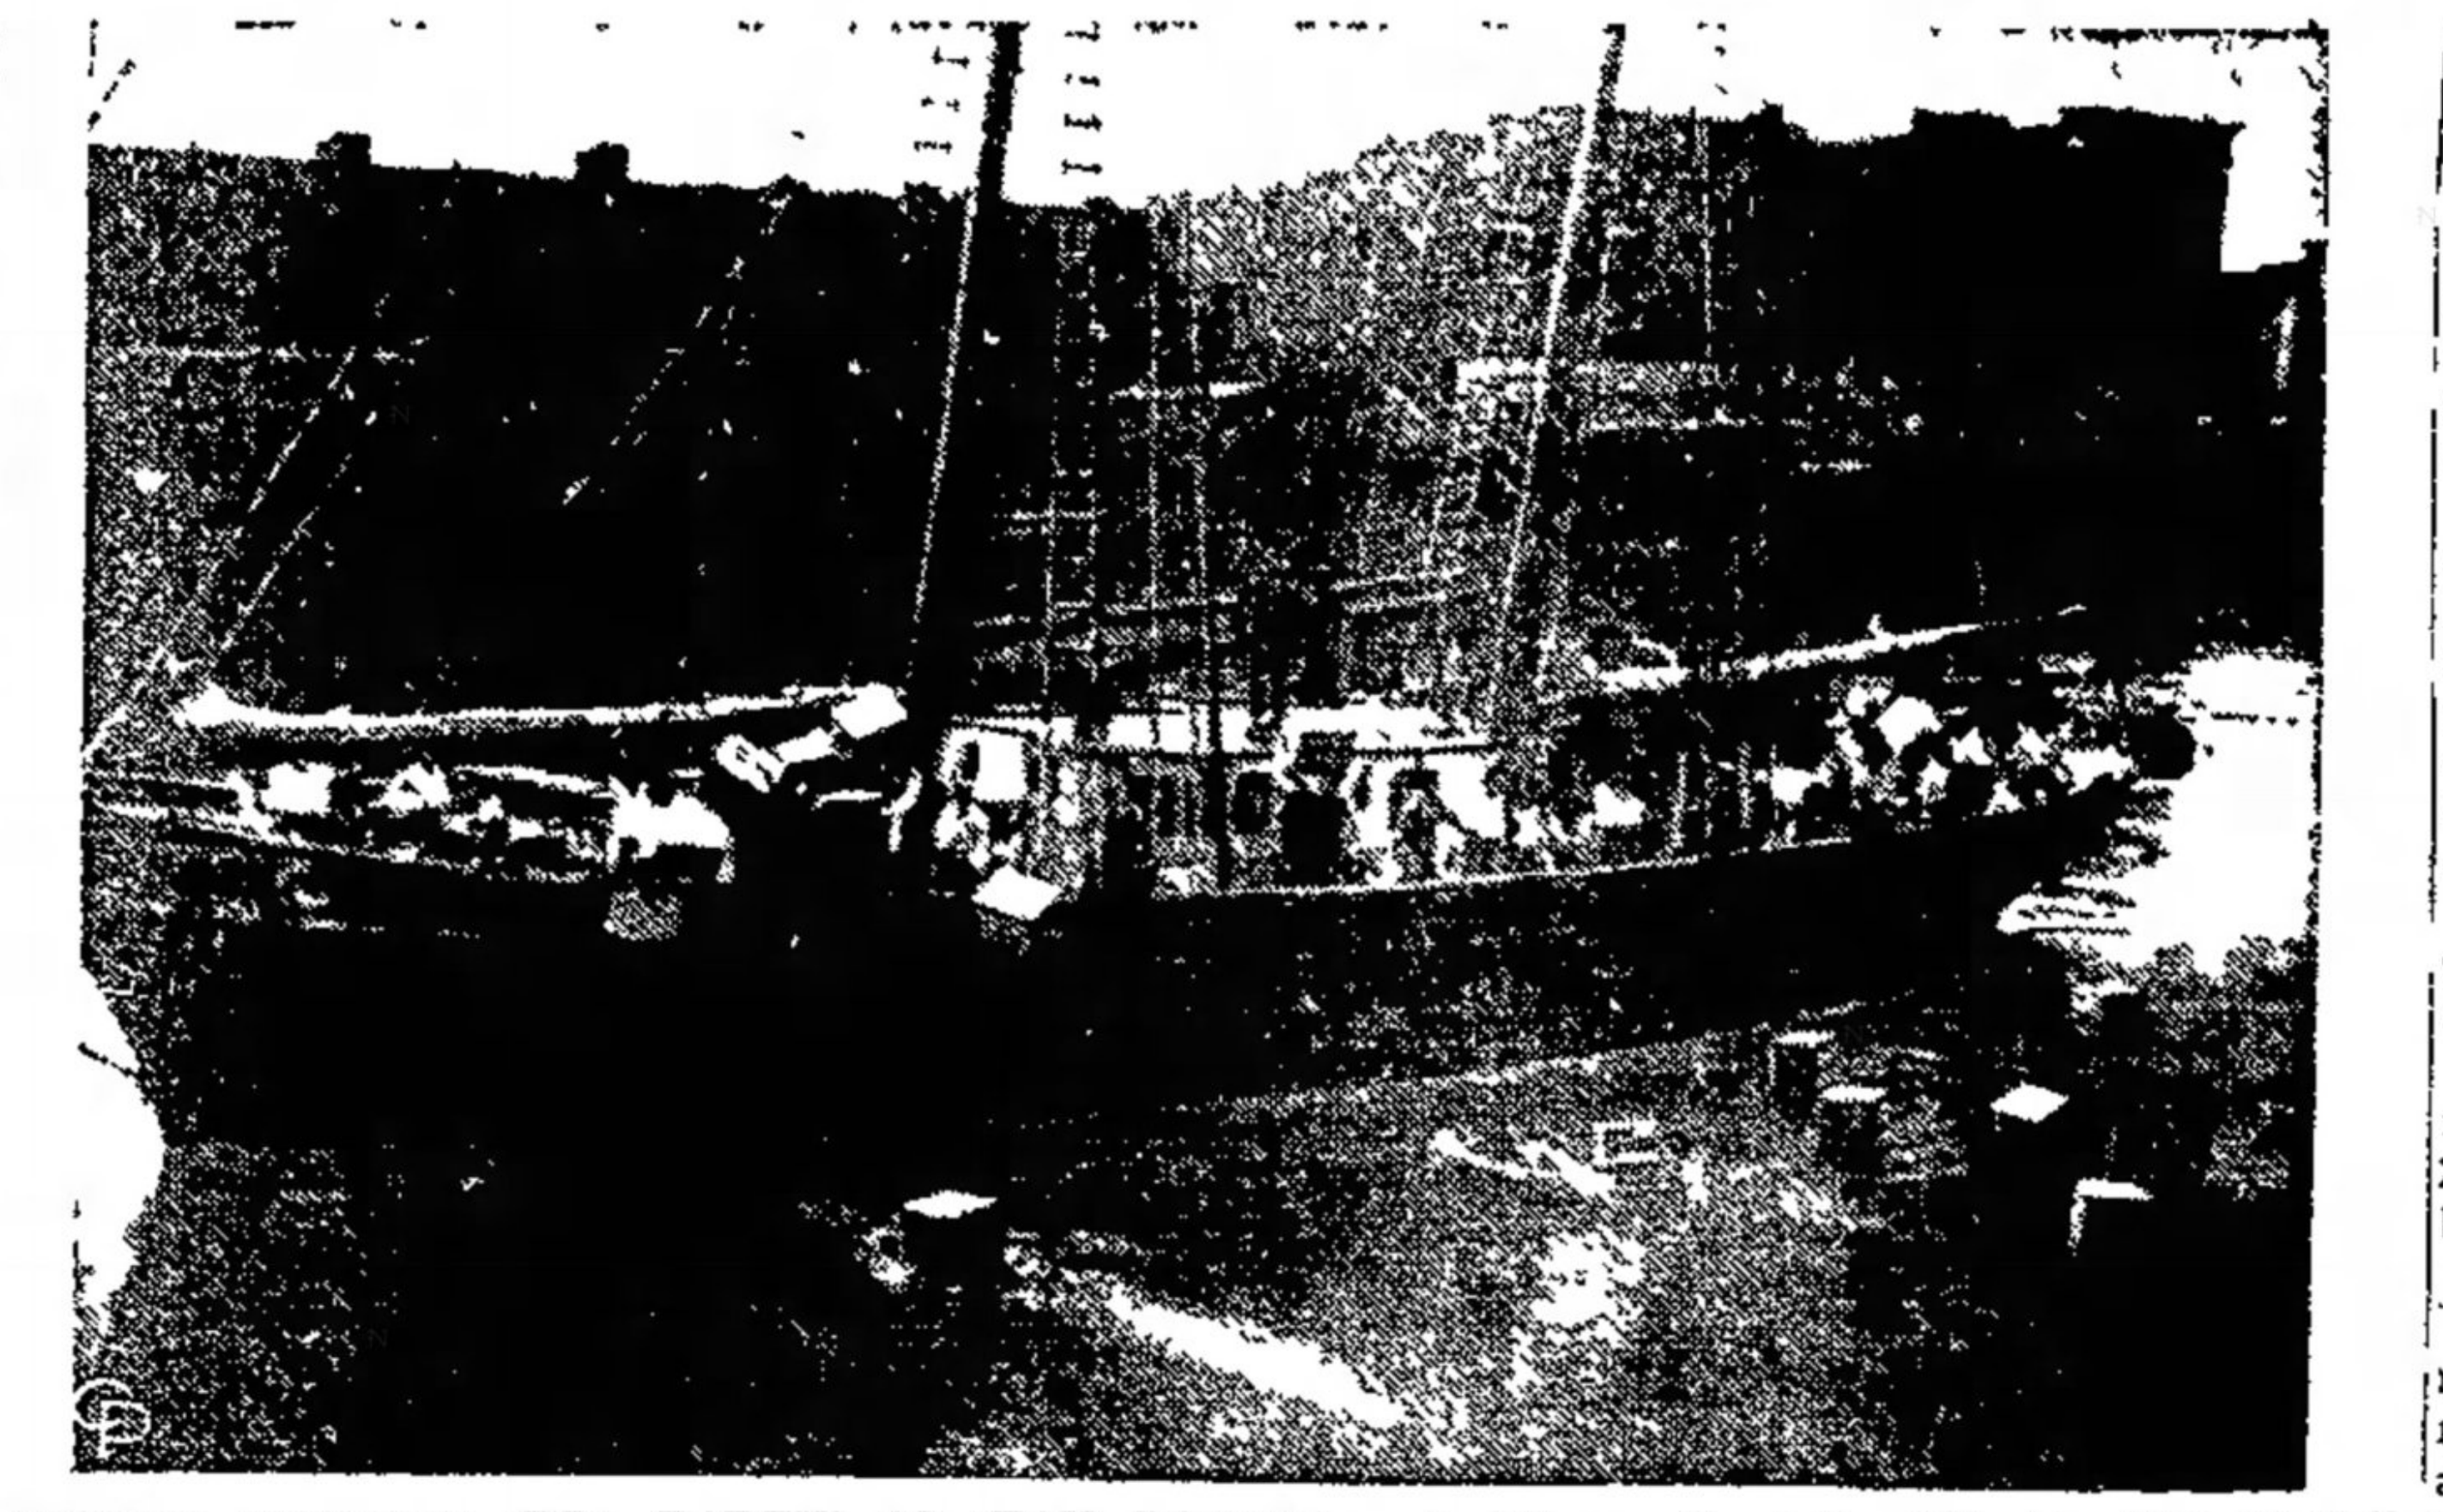
Cut Down Services

Gary said Summerfield could "reduce expenditures substantially" by cutting down non-essential services such as reducing number of Saturday business deliveries and cutting out Saturday deliveries of third class mail.

President Eisenhower originally requested $3 250 000 000 for the Post Office Department in fiscal 1958. The House shaved 58 million dollars from the request in passing it.

Summerfield asked a Senate appropriations subcommittee to restore the House cuts Wednesday. He said the funds were needed because of an increase in the mail volume.

The subcommittee however balked at restoring more than 32 million dollars at this time. Summerfield was told he would have to request additional funds in a supplemental appropriations bill.



BOSTON REVIVES 'TEA PARTY' AS 'TAX PARTY' — A "Revival" of the "Boston Tea Party" of 184 years ago is staged in Boston harbor as students and businessmen throw a "Boston Tax Party." Appropriately labeled crates are thrown over side of the sailing ship in a project against excessive government spending. The Indian war paint and costuming was in evidence just as it was in the anti-British tea tax days.

'Mark Twain' as the Reporter

BERKELEY Calif (UP)—Sam Clemens' news reporting for the Virginia City Nev territorial enterprise during the gold rush days could scarcely be used as an example in today's schools of journalism.

From that standpoint it is probably just as well that only 20 of these pieces published under the pseudonym "Mark Twain," have previously been published.

But students of the famous author, the period or newspaper practices of that day rejoice in the discovery of more of his dispatches and their publication by the University of California Press.

The new material which also includes family letters and explanatory matter was prepared by Henry Nash Smith fourth in the line of editors of the Mark Twain estate. It has just been published in a book entitled "Mark Twain of the Enterprise."

Statehood Struggles

The period covered is 1862-64 and most of the items deal with the struggles of the territorial legislature to draw up a constitution and make Nevada a state.

The final part of the book deals with the mysterious circumstances under which the exuberant youth left Virginia City for San Francisco and subsequent fame. This section casts light on the problem but does not completely illuminate it.

Most newspaper writing in those days was less inhibited, more libelous and far more personal than it is today — a state of affairs that exactly suited the [illegible] temperament and imagination of young Clemens, who first used his pseudonym on an Enterprise story.

An example of Twain's reporting taken from his previously unpublished dispatch from Carson City on Feb 11, 1864, in Smith's book:

Deluged With Blasphemy

"While I was absent a moment yesterday, on important business, taking a drink, the house, with its accustomed engaging unanimity, knocked one of my pet bills higher than a kite without a dissenting voice. I convened the members in extra session last night and deluged them with blasphemy, after which I entered into a solemn compact with them, whereby, in consideration of their re-instating my bill, I was to make an ample apology for all the mean things I had said about them for passing that infamous unchristian infernal telegraph bill the other day . . . They reinstated my pet today, unanimously, thus fulfilling their contract to the letter, and in conformity with my promise above referred to, I hereby solemnly apologize for their rascally conduct in passing the infamous telegraph bill above mentioned."

The material in Smith's book does not rank as Twain's best but the beginnings of some of his later work and the sprouting of his genius are visible in his free-hand reporting.
